Poem of the week

Youth and Love

By John Gay

Youth's the season made for joys,
 Love is then our duty,
 She alone who that employs,
 Well deserves her beauty.
 Let's be gay
 While we may,
 Beauty's a flower
 despised in decay.

Why you still need a COVER LETTER

In a world where many job applications seem to get disregarded, job seekers often ask if including a cover letter with their CV is of any value to their application. For many HR managers, cover letters still present a valuable framework that can influence how companies perceive you. A cover letter is a way of introducing yourself through the portrayal of your skills and qualifications to potential employers while highlighting your interest in a certain position. Akhtaboot is here to tell you why a cover letter is still an indispensable tool to help you stand out from the crowd.

Show your leadership potential

A cover letter is primarily an introduction to your CV. Its key purpose is to establish a personal connection with your potential employer and highlight your career path and preferences. Your cover letter is not a standard document sent out to hundreds of jobs, but it's tailor-made to match the job description and requirements of each company's position and explains in detail why you want to work there and what makes you a good fit for the role.

It Tells Your Story

No matter how in-depth and detailed your CV is, it is not enough to tell your whole story to potential employers, whereas a cover letter gives a glimpse of your personality. A well-written cover letter can shed light on your achievements and enables you to explain situations that are not clear in a CV such as employment gaps or any drastic changes in your career path. It also allows you to draw parallels among diverse experiences and provides a link between your past experiences with potential ones.

It Compliments Your CV

A cover letter shouldn't just be a mirror of your CV. It should highlight the important elements of your CV that you believe are the most significant to the job. The cover letter should lure the reader into looking at your CV. It allows you to make references to a particular attribute or accomplishment that will make the reader flip to your CV. Make sure that you avoid including things that are not related to the position as it would confuse the reader.

It Can Make You Stand Out

A cover letter lets you stand out from other applicants. That's why it is highly essential that your cover letter is free of grammatical errors and typos. HR managers go through hundreds of CVs every day and sometimes it is particularly hard to choose between two potential employees that come from the same background and have similar work experiences. So the deciding factor might actually be your cover letter. Cover letters can actually set two potential employees apart and can also be a deal breaker in some cases.

A cover letter is a personal marketing tool that intends to generate interest in you and get the employer eager about reviewing your CV. The cover letter should express your interest and enthusiasm for both the company and the position, and should also demonstrate how your unique background, skills and experiences make you an excellent fit. The ability to convey these points in a coherent and perfectly-formatted cover letter will also emphasize your communication and written skills.

Into The Woods

with Meryl Streep

"I never imagined in my wildest dreams that, when I'm 65, I would be playing the part of the Witch"

Streep was asked about the contrast in acting for a fantasy film and a regular film, as Into the Woods is the next musical film that Meryl Streep starred in after her role in Mamma Mia! 6 years ago. According to her "there's no different approach to it as it is still acting." Despite being a darker kind of story, she admits that "the singing is always enjoyable." The big-screen adaptation is set to have songs from the stage musical, including Children Will Listen, Giants in the Sky, On the Steps of the Palace, No One Is Alone and Agony, along with the new song Rainbows.

"One of the things I loved about Into the Woods is that the magic actually comes from real things. It was just so easy to imagine the sensual world," Streep states. The Academy Awards actress headlines the star-studded cast which includes Anna Kendrick, Johnny Depp, Chris Pine & Emily Blunt to name a few. Into the Woods is an exceptional screen adaptation from the Broadway Musical by Stephen Sondheim, an enchanting and magical tale brought to the big-screen by director Rob Marshall. Into the Woods intertwines the plots of some of the classical tales from the Brothers Grimm like Little Red Riding Hood, Jack and the Beanstalk, Cinderella and Rapunzel. Despite having a no-witch policy, she signed on the role.

When Streep was asked about her turning down roles as a witch in the past, she admits to not liking "how witches were perceived in history, I just don't like the trope of witches; it's like the demonisation of older women." Streep recalls watching the original production back in 1987 and being overwhelmed with it all and goes on to say how the "show was wonderful and it was unlike any other musical." Now having played the role on the movie adaptation, she reveals that, "I never imagined in my wildest dreams that, when I'm 65, I would be playing the part of the Witch."

When asked what made her change her mind in playing a witch role she simply stated, "this is Steven Sondheim and it's a story worth telling" and that the witch was different because it is "a force who sets in motion a series of stories and events so she can have her wish, which is to not be ugly. It's such an interesting problem that Sondheim sets up. Everybody has a wish, everybody gets their wish. That's just the end of the first act... It's an ambitious thing."

Into the Woods was recently screened during the International Film Festival and is set to be released on December 25. Disney's take on the Broadway musical would definitely be a magical treat for all this festive season.

Tips for healthy holiday eating

Deck the halls with boughs of holly! Celebrating with family and friends this holiday season is indeed enjoyable as there is abundance in laughter, love, gifts and of course delicious warm food. Which means this is also the time for over-eating, but the holidays don't have to mean weight gain. Let READ help you focus on a healthy balance of food, activity, and fun with a few simple tips.

Downsize your plate

Trick your brain into thinking you are eating more by using a smaller plate. Use an appetiser or a salad plate instead of a dinner plate and chances are you'll be getting the same amount of food but only this time it will look as if you got double that size due to it being cramped in a smaller plate.

Munch, crunch & enjoy

Eat until you are satisfied, not stuffed. If you don't love it, don't eat it, scan the buffet for foods that are special holiday treats and skip the everyday dishes that are easily available. Savour your favourite holiday treats while eating small portions. Sit down, get comfortable and enjoy.

No hovering at the Buffet table

When you're at a party buffet table, choose three or four items you really want to eat and then step away from the table so you're not tempted to browse. If you're in the middle of an interesting conversation or standing on the other side of the room from the food, you're less likely to keep absentmindedly refilling your plate.

Don't lose it, keep it

Shift your focus from weight loss to weight maintenance. It's hard enough as it is to lose weight on a regular season, so instead of stressing out on how to lose those holiday pounds keep track of your current weight and try to maintain it by not adding more than 1-2 pounds. After the festivities are over, you can get back on your regular exercise and dietary routines.

Don't skip meals

If you have a lunch or dinner party to go to, eat normally on that day. Chances are that when you skip meals, you tend to over-eat once everything is in sight. Before leaving for a party, try to eat a light healthy snack like raw vegetables or a piece of fruit to curb your appetite. If you over-eat at one meal go light on the next one!

A tale of two cities

Mountainous and alluring, Northern Thailand is a cultural and natural wonderland with a multitude of attractions and welcoming hospitality.

By Wissam Aoun

We are accustomed to hear of tourists visiting the renowned city of Bangkok and the south of Thailand. However, little do these people know what the northern part of Thailand has to offer, especially when it comes to the two marvelous cities of Chiang Rai and Chiang Mai. Let me tell you more about the fantastic journey I went on in Northern Thailand and how I thoroughly cherished every minute of the beauty that I stumbled upon during my stay.

My adventure started off in the delightful city of Chiang Rai – a city with relaxed atmosphere, good-value accommodation and lovely local food. If you're wondering where I was staying, I'm happy to say that it was in the Le Meridien Chiang Rai Resort, where the rooms are extremely spacious. The hotel is set amidst natural landscapes, historic Buddhist temples and hill tribe villages, leaving you with a mesmerizing panorama. It features a variety of activities, including tonic spa treatments, pleasant swims in the two pools, and a refreshing workout at the gym.

After getting the rest I needed, I headed towards the Anantara Golden Triangle Elephant Camp & Resort – overlooking the breathtaking hills bordering Myanmar and Laos. This was an unforgettable destination for me as I explored the enchanting world of elephants at the Elephant Camp. I have to say, it was beauty beyond comparison. I then headed down into the Golden Triangle where the three nations meet through a river. I assumed that this was one of the largest tourist traps in northern Thailand, because of the majestic large statue of the Buddha. You can also enjoy a boat ride to view the splendor of mighty Mae Khong River as you get a brief on the history of the area, or maybe also cross over into Laos, which is what I did.

Moving on to the neighboring city of Chiang Mai, I made a stop at the White Temple "Wat Rong Khun", and I recommend everyone else visiting Northern Thailand to do the same. This temple is one of the most recognizable temples in Thailand. It is one of the most extraordinary temples I have ever seen, it just looked surreal. The incredibly detailed, all-white exterior represents Buddha's purity. The temple's structure will simply take your breath away. Upon arrival to Chiang Mai, I checked in the Anantara Chiang Mai

Resort & Spa – a destination which exceeded my expectation. The resort boasts a unique atmosphere, special hospitality and convenient facilities. Once I stepped through this 84 room luxury boutique by the river, I was transported into a colonial wonderland. Guests have the privilege of relaxing on the balcony, admiring the peaceful flow of the Thai river life. You can also enjoy a relaxing time at the waterfront pool or indulge in exotic spa rituals and revitalizing yoga. Don't forget to grab a bite from one of the finest restaurants at the resort, offering Thai and western cuisine. The Anantara Chiang Mai Resort & Spa is the perfect hotel for a peaceful and relaxing holiday accommodation in Chiang Mai.

Another great perk is that the resort is just a hop away from the Night Bazaar, which I found to be a great place to get your loved ones nice souvenir gifts. To some of you, this place could be the shopping paradise you've been looking for. As the sun sets over the city, all the street vendors load their goods for sale, from clothes and watches to jewelry and souvenirs. Don't forget to bargain for your purchases, it's all part of the fun.

My next destination was the oldest temple in Chiang Mai, Wat Chiang Man, which was built in 1297. The temple contains two famous Buddhas, one of which is one of the most treasured artifacts in Thailand – Phra Sae Tang Kamani, and the other is called Phra Sila. I also noticed that the temple possesses a beautiful pagoda, which has 15 life-sized elephant carvings inserted into its base.

Moving on, I made sure to stop by the Strawberry Farm, which was drastically beautiful. The farm is walled by great colorful mountains and gives you the opportunity to handpick the strawberries on your own, leaving you with strawberries fresher than ever. Now is the perfect time for that because it's the strawberry season.

As I moved up further north, higher up into the mist-shrouded mountains, I witnessed what could be the most awe-inspiring scenery of all time. I can't help but admit that this would be the most ideal destination for sightseers. It was glutted with nature buffs and greenery. It was like love at first sight. I think it's fair to say that Northern Thailand's landscape is exceedingly picturesque and magnificent.

It's also worth mentioning that during my stay I ran across two hitchhikers who came all the way from Canada and Germany to witness the one and only gracefulness of Northern Thailand. What made their story more interesting is that they didn't even know each other until they met each other on a bus travelling through this fine urban specimen. They told me that they were travelling through the whole of Asia and claimed that Northern Thailand was the best destination so far, and I couldn't agree more. Chiang Rai and Chiang Mai are well worth a revisit.

NEW LOOK

Audi: worth the wait

After two years of waiting, Audi has finally revealed the latest version of its new five-cylinder, four-wheel-drive super hatch RS3 Sportback. The vehicle will feature a 2.5-liter five-cylinder turbo and seven-speed dual-clutch transmission. The engine powers up an impressive 362 horsepower, making it one of the most powerful vehicles in Audi's lineup. And it is by all means in direct competition with the Mercedes-Benz A45 AMG. The RS3 is capable of striking from 0-100 km/h in just 4.3 seconds, with a top speed of 280 km/h. The latest version of this vehicle has lost 55kg of weight, which will make it more agile upon steering.

New is always better

Mercedes has once again struck with an all new model called the GLE Coupe, which links the sporty nature of a coupe with an SUV. It certainly looks like this vehicle will go on the competitor's list for BMW's X6. The German Automaker is clearly hoping to cast the GLE Coupe as a sportier lifestyle-oriented alternative in its lineup of beefy crossovers and SUVs. The range-topping GLE 450 AMG boasts an impressive 3.0-liter biturbo V6 and powers an admirable 362 horsepower and 384lb ft. It is said that the interior is quite spacious for a coupe due to the widest rear seat bench in the class.

Basketball:

The Golden State Warriors have extended their winning streak to 15 straight wins after Stephen Curry led the team to a 105-98 victory over the Dallas Mavericks. The 26-year-old Ohio native managed to put in 29 points for his team as Klay Thompson landed 25, finishing the game with a 7-point lead.

Rugby:

It's nothing but hard work for the Leeds Rhinos as of now. The players intend to fight for another Grand Final success in 2015 during the pre-season. The Super League campaign won't begin for another nine weeks, meaning the players have the time needed to train hard to make sure they can build on a bittersweet 2014.

Cricket:

Alastair Cook claims that he will not unchain himself from England's captaincy despite losing 5-2 to Sri Lanka. "I'm still hungry to do well. I don't like not seeing the job through and I can see a lot of potential in this team," said the Englishman.

Relentless rivalry

Lewis Hamilton has claimed that his rivalry with Mercedes team-mate Nico Rosberg has jumped to the next level after Rosberg went off the track on his final qualifying lap to prevent Hamilton from challenging for pole. However, it is still unclear if the German had purposely sabotaged Hamilton's qualifying lap, as the two have argued with Nico stating "I braked too late and that was it." Hamilton responded "Listen, you braked 10 metres too late. This is on purpose. You brake two metres too late, I can agree with you."

Thierry Henry has announced his retirement as a player from professional football, bringing an end to his illustrious playing career. The Frenchman managed to score 411 times in 917 games throughout his career, pulling off his best performance at Arsenal. The former Arsenal striker left New York Red Bulls once the season was concluded to take his place as a pundit at Sky Sports, joining Gary Neville, Jamie Carragher and Jamie Redknapp. Henry will undoubtedly be remembered as one of Premier League's best strikers as he still remains the top scorer in Arsenal's history. The legend's retirement will definitely bring a relief to opposing goalkeepers everywhere.

Beyoncé & Jay-Z sued for Drunk in Love

The power couple and their producer Timbaland are now being sued by a Hungarian woman, Monica Mitzura aka Mitsou, who claims that the first 13 seconds of Bey and Jay-z's Drunk in Love has been ripped off her Roma folk song, Bajba, Bajba Pelem. Mitsou reported that she never authorized the couple to utilize her voice. She claims that the song is about hopelessness and yet Beyoncé used it to "evoke foreign eroticism alongside the sexually intense lyrics and degrade her song by digitally manipulating her voice with Auto-Tune and various cuts." Mitsou is now asking the judge to prohibit anyone playing the song as long as it has her voice.

Lindsay Lohan never to live in L.A. again

After the child star travelled to Greece and experienced life without the paparazzi chasing her here and there, she said that "it was the first time I have ever just been on a vacation by myself. I just wandered about on my own and turned off my phone. It was so extraordinarily freeing for me. Like another life." When Lindsay moved to London in March, that was when she revealed that she never wants to go back to L.A. She mentioned that being away from her partying friends in New York and Los Angeles has caused her to grow up.

Hayden Panettiere gives birth to a baby girl

Hayden Panettiere and fiancé Wladimir Klitschko welcomes a new member of their family on December 9th, 2014. "We are over the moon and madly in love," Panettiere states. "I'm thrilled that I'm having a girl first because I feel like I know a lot about raising a strong woman. I feel very empowered myself and I think my daughter will too," she added. Hayden and Wladimir named their first child Kaya Klitschko.

Jason Statham and Rosie Huntington-Whiteley engagement

After the countless on and off relationship of the long term couple, Jason finally announced that he is ready to commit to Rosie due to the reason that the actor was made aware of Huntington's desire for marriage. The cause of the couple's previous break-ups was because their relationship lacked seriousness in the beginning.

Bollywood news

Sadhana recovering from surgery

After the veteran actress had undergone surgery for a bleeding oral lesion on December 9, Sadhana is now "recovering and should get discharged in a week's time," sources say. She is currently being treated at the Asian Institute of Oncology (AIO). Sadhana rose to fame in films like Love In Simla, Mere Mehboob, Mera Saaya and Waqt.

Gurmeet Choudhary to have wife Debina's cameo in all his films

The television heartthrob is on his way to success with his big screen launch in Mahesh Bhatt's Khamoshiyan which is a supernatural musical. Nevertheless, his journey towards his achievements is not detached from his wife, Debina Bonnerjee. Gurmeet is all set to have a special space reserved for his significant other. "She will make an appearance in all my films. I have promised her that", he revealed.

Ali Zafar receives a lifetime honorary membership of the Lahore Press Club.

The actor took on to Twitter saying, "Honoured to have been bestowed the status of Lifetime honorary member by the Lahore Press club." He is also the youngest person to get the honour. Ali has worked as a model for several commercials in Pakistan and made his Bollywood debut in 2010 with Tere Bin Laden.

Rati Agnihotri's son to play lead opposite Sunny Leone

Previous reports stated that Sunny Leone will star in a film entitled One Night Stand, with Rana Daggubati. Recent news however states that Rana will now be replaced by Rati Agnihotri's son to play lead, opposite Sunny Leone. The film's producer

Tutu Sharma said, "Due to a strike in the Telugu film industry, the schedule of a lot of actors has gone haywire and that includes Rana's. So we auditioned over 25 actors before zeroing in on Tanuj who is ideal for the part."

Smart Drive and Smart Salik prove hugely popular

Recently launched RTA smart applications yield world of benefits to users while saving them time and money.

“The response to the Smart Drive app has been tremendous, recording 370,082 users within just two months; which is attributed to the services and features offered to clients in the app.”

“The smart parking app has also commanded huge public attention as the number of users who have downloaded the app has clocked 49,227 users who benefited from the features of the app in paying parking fees in a smart manner without being charged extras (30 fils applicable to text messages). Moreover, the motorist can figure out unoccupied parking slots in multi-level parking lots and the service road of Sheikh Zayed Road in the direction of Abu Dhabi from the trade centre roundabout up to the first interchange.

“The Salik Smart app also attracted a massive number of users, hitting 221,971 users, especially after clients perceived the advanced and express solutions that considerably cut short procedures. App users have experienced no technical glitches despite the short period since the app's introduction. This translates into more effective customer service and reflects the community's interaction with RTA services after going through the experience of reporting cases directly to the RTA call centre,” she added.

“The apps are introduced as part of the RTA's ongoing endeavours to harness cutting-edge technologies for the service of the community and customers in line with the directives of Dubai Government calling for transforming Dubai into the smartest city of the world, supported by the Hamdan Bin Mohammed Program for Smart Government calling for the introduction of smart technological means capable of maintaining the global profile of Dubai among the top cosmopolitan cities.”

SERVICES

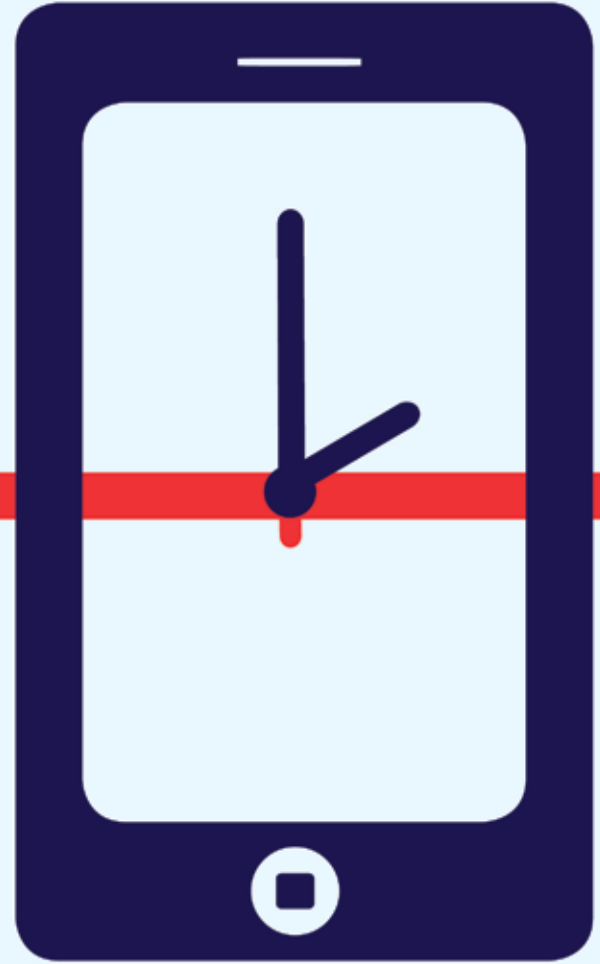

The smart applications rolled out recently by the Roads and Transport Authority (RTA) have attracted huge public attention with a record number of users downloading the apps onto their smart devices. The apps were launched during Gitex Technology Week 2014 up to the start of December 2014.

Engineer Maitha Bin Udai, CEO of the RTA Traffic and Roads Agency, said: “The response to the Smart Drive app has been tremendous, recording 370,082 users within just two months; which is attributed to the services and features offered to clients in the app such as obtaining the latest updates of the UAE map through an offline navigation system, besides enabling motorists to identify shortcuts to their destinations, thanks to the real-time knowledge of roads' traffic conditions.

“The apps are introduced as part of the RTA's ongoing endeavours to harness cutting-edge technologies for the service of the community and customers in line with the directives of Dubai Government calling for transforming Dubai into the smartest city of the world.”

What's in your stars?

The Read. astrologer tells you what you can expect over the next seven days.

ARIES

(MAR 21 - APR 20)

You have a lot of drive as this week begins, but you need to take time and consider your tactics. Make sure you're giving as well as taking too, for your karma's sake. Then, you've got creative power, intellectual prowess and a knack for finding people you click with.

TAURUS

(APR 21 - MAY 21)

You can make excellent progress in all of your endeavors as the week begins, but don't forget to think big too. Your larger ideals come into play now in very important ways. Life may not go quite as smoothly. Have a strategy rather than just a reaction.

GEMINI

(MAY 22 - JUN 21)

If you've got a partner, whether in business or romantically speaking, expect some negotiations. Your aims and theirs may need some discussion and adjusting to work together. Later, meet some highly unusual people and taste some foods you've never tried.

CANCER

(JUN 22 - JUL 23)

Beware of a tendency to withdraw as the week begins for cancer. It is very important to stand your ground and defend your position now, whether it is at work or in your personal life (or even both). Always be fair but firm, and it will go well.

LEO

(JUL 24 - AUG 23)

Who's in charge? In any circumstances where you're sharing the power, you'll need to make an extra effort to cooperate or a renegotiation may be in order. Around Wednesday and Thursday, progress can be made in all areas of your life, but not via the traditional means.

VIRGO

(AUG 24 - SEP 23)

Friendships and fun can blossom at work as the week begins, blurring the lines between labor and play in the nicest way. You've got innovative power that can have you re-examining the way you do things and even the way you approach your world as a whole.

LIBRA

(SEP 24 - OCT 23)

What do you do to beat the blues? Have some action steps ready as the week begins; exercise, time with friends, meditation, whatever works for you. Then the stars will give you a big boost around Wednesday and Thursday, both mentally and in terms of your personal pulchritude.

SCORPIO

(OCT 24 - NOV 22)

You're both a power player and a team player and when it comes to your personal life, your skills aren't too shabby, either. Getting some great stuff started now is no problem. However, issues with family may emerge. Be ready to cultivate mutual respect yet set good boundaries.

SAGITTARIUS

(NOV 23 - DEC 21)

Money might be on your mind, but don't neglect your creative side. After you figure out the finances, head out to a gallery for some imaginative inspiration. Then, you can generate some fantastic ideas, and if you get some fantastic people in on it, the stars say the sky's the limit.

CAPRICORN

(DEC 22 - JAN 20)

You're hot stuff, and not in that by-chance, flash-in-the-pan way. It's the effort you've put in so far, at work, in relationships, into your own health; that's showing so beautifully. You may find yourself thinking of the future, make sure a financial plan is part of it.

AQUARIUS

(JAN 21 - FEB 19)

A free-form approach isn't going to cut it, whether it's at work or in personal matters. Analyze the situation and assess what the best response is. Later, however, your intuition's right on and your unusual ideas find many listening ears.

PISCES

(FEB 20 - MAR 20)

Those who consider you a dreamer might be surprised — you're a real problem-solver now, and you make it look easy, too. It's also a good time to tidy up your physical surroundings. It's your headspace that's in some disarray, but possibly in a good way.
