Poem of the week

She Moves With By Keith Pereña

www.thisportraitingray.wordpress.com

She moves her hand with an arpeggio as she remembers the stars on her skin.
there is the motion of her eyes,
with the harp of her voice composing the songs –
From promises to words,
From embraces to poetry.

She moves along.

Travelling on the road towards some street where the truth is she turns swoons into odes.

I am the victim.
and she is the author of her beauty as she moves
the legatos of her body.
spelling out words in staccato.

Taking my breath,
With her single act of inhaling.

V-DAY wishlist for him

Valentine's Day is just around the corner, so what have you got planned out for your special someone? Don't panic! Breathe in, breathe out, READ is here to give you some romantic ideas on how to make valentine's day a memorable one. It's time to spread love all around.

2

H&M sweater

It's never too late to gift a sweater, why? Because it's another reason to cuddle up and watch a late night movie while munching on some popcorn. It's a nice sentimental gift that he can keep with him and wear whenever.

Beats Studio Wireless Headphones

What guy wouldn't love a wireless headphone? Especially if he's into music or dancing, this beautiful piece from Beats is the perfect gift, that way he'll only be tangled up in your love. It's easy to carry around and hassle free, you don't even need to wrap it up, just put a little bow on it and you're done!

Vince Camuto Eau de Toilette Spray for Men

It's sleek, it's masculine and has a scent that would make both of you fall deeply in love with each other. The aromatic scent of wood, spices and leather is perfect for any guy. It comes in a 50ml and 100ml, so that he can either keep it at home or take it along with him.

4 1847 The Art of Shaving Set

No shave November is long gone and the winter days are just about to end. Gift this to him so that he'll have a complete set once he's ready to shave off that gorgeous 'stache. If you love it or hate it, it works both ways as he can use these to shave it all off or just trim it while the air is still cool.

Riding Solo

The shade of red and hearts are everywhere now as Valentine's is just days away, couples are going on about their romantic plans or getaways, but what of those singletons around? There should be something for them too right? Have no fear, READ is here to help out all you single ladies and bachelors out there.

To all the single ladies...

Coddle yourself

So Valentine's Day is all about love, well then go right ahead and spend the day loving you! Makes perfect sense yes? The good thing about this year's V-day is that it falls on a Saturday, so you have the whole day to pamper yourself, even if you have work you have an excuse to leave early. Spend the day spoiling yourself with things you've been meaning to do, treat your nails to a mani-pedi, or indulge your body by going to the spa. If you don't feel like going out, stay at home and order some take-out, then start having a marathon on every movie your celeb crush has ever made. After all, you have no one to please but your own darn self.

Give love on V-day

Who says you only have to give love to a partner on V-day? It is the day of love after all, so start a love epidemic. Give V-day cards to your colleagues, friends and even those friendly faces you encounter on a day-to-day basis, i.e.: your barista, the office guard, that person you always exchange smiles and greeting to even though you don't know them. A little love goes a long way, who knows you'll probably end up making their V-day a special one. Seeing a face light up from your small gesture will fill you with love and make the world a better place.

Here, we will give you tips on how to treat V-day not as a day to glorify romance, but as a day to celebrate love in general-yourself, friends, family and everyone else around you. Being alone on V-Day can be just as much fun as hanging out with some random date and it's generally cheaper, easier and probably a whole better idea.

Both hands on deck

If you don't feel like indulging yourself for hearts day, use it to finish what you've started. Yes we mean that journal you haven't written in for a long time, the DIY or recipe you've always wanted to try out. This is also the perfect day to finally re-arrange or re-decorate your room—as it hurts to admit—most of your friends would be too busy playing wifey to their partners.

'Secret Heart'

Girls will always have each others' back. Most of you might not have a date or a guy to spoil you on V-day but then that's what girlfriends are for right? Gather all your single ladies together and play a Valentine's version of 'Secret Santa'. Draw names and get something special for your 'Secret Heart'. Meet at a friend's apartment to exchange gifts. Afterwards get all dolled up and enjoy a night out on the town. Try a karaoke bar, because, let's face it, when is karaoke anything but a good time?

Veg out

Simple. Do nothing at all. This is the day where you get a 'free pass' card in spending money on your extracurricular activities, that—let's admit it—your nonexistent girlfriend would most probably disapprove of. So veg out on the couch, relax and be relieved that you're not dropping a couple of bills on overcooked steak and watered-down drinks. You can go out next weekend and rub all the money you saved in your hitched friends' faces.

Head out

And we don't mean just out of the house, but rather out of town. If you've got the time and the extra cash, this might be the best opportunity to do some exploring. Visit friends you haven't seen in a while or just go explore some place out of town. Pack your bags and go on a solo trip, after all there's plenty to see out there, who knows 'the one' might just be in the next town or over.

To all the hunky bachelors...

Negligence is a crime

We know you have a hobby, one that has been neglected due to your busy schedule. Well this is the day to finally get back to it! Beat that level on your video game that has been on hold for ages, work out, get on track, purchase or complete those model ships or items that you've bought months back. Whatever makes you happy my friend; remember this is a day to celebrate yourself. Just make sure you do something that will give you a sense of accomplishment when you've completed the task.

Turn up the night

We know you aren't the only bachelor in your group, it just doesn't happen that way. So obviously you'll all be spending Valentine's alone, but then why spend it alone when you can spend it all together right? Don't settle for the typical night; make it a really big night. Go for dinner, drinks, to a bar or even for just a night of gambling at someone's house. Blow off some steam and forget all about the love-and-hearts rubbish.

Party it up!

Let's admit it, you were all invited to go to a couple of parties, note the word 'couple'. So why not find a party specifically for all those singletons out there—like you— and possibly even increase the chance of hooking a future date. If you're confident about the amount of single people in your clique, host a singles party yourself, it'll be the perfect mingle-and-match for everyone. There might even be a few people thanking you the week after because of it.

Steps to less stress

It may seem that there's nothing you can do about stress. The bills won't stop coming, there will never be more hours in the day and your career and family responsibilities will always be demanding. But you have more control than you think. In fact, the simple realization that you're in control of your life is the foundation of stress management. Managing stress is all about taking charge: of your thoughts, emotions, schedule, and the way you deal with problems. Let READ help you by showing you some steps in achieving less stress in your life.

Manage your time

Create short lists for today and not beyond the weekend, remember that your schedule doesn't need to be rigid. Flexible little routines lower stress by increasing daily predictability. You don't have to multi-task just because they say it's easier, some people actually find it easier to get a job done when they do it one at a time. Mark down the important tasks first and leave the minor tasks for the end of the day or whenever you are free. Remember, you're not a robot and your mind and body can only do so much at a time. Don't overdo it.

Prep for the day

Take 10 minutes every evening to prepare for the next day, pick out which clothes you're going to wear and prep the items you need to bring along with you i.e. laptop, documents etc. Don't rely on your memory, write everything down and stick it on your vanity mirror or cabinet door, someplace where you always go in the morning. You can even write down meal plans and pack lunches ahead of time. All of these will help you in creating a calm mood every morning.

2

Enjoy the little things

Our lives are very fast paced, especially living in a city like Dubai. Slow down from time to time and enjoy the moment you are in. Look around you instead of straight forward and focus on the details of your everyday activity. There's so much to see in this world and you might be surprised that the little bird on the ground is something that you might find relaxing. Studies show that savouring –taking the time to be mindful or notice the good stuff- helps us stress less.

Move it

Exercising reduces levels of stress hormones and helps in stimulating the production of feel-good chemicals. Regular exercises also improve health and even small spurts of activity works well even if you can't schedule a workout. A 10-minute walk is as beneficial as a 45-minute workout to relieve anxiety. Try simply leaving your workplace and take a short (10-15 minutes) walk around the block or the building when you are feeling stressed. You'll be amazed at how much better you'll feel afterwards.

Laugh out loud

Laughter releases endorphins that improve the mood and immune system; it also lowers the levels of stress hormones. You can easily search for online for some funny videos or watch a funny movie during your lunch break, there's so many ways to enjoy life. Surround yourself with good and funny people; even smiling reduces the intensity of your body's response to stress. So don't be afraid to laugh out loud.

Don't forget to breathe

Slow breathes also reduce stress hormones in the body and lower heart rate and blood pressure. Take 5 minutes to breathe slowly and deeply when you feel anxious. You can also try this: Breathe in to the count of 4, hold for 7 counts and breathe out for 8 counts. This method is a well known relaxation technique and is very effective. Also it works when you're dealing with pain.

Considering switching JOBS?

The questions you need to ask yourself before you make the move!

Switching jobs is not as simple as it sounds. It entails more than just moving on to a bigger and better position. While receiving a good job offer is both exciting and flattering, you need to figure out exactly what you want to make out of this change. In other words, you need to make sure that you are leaving for the right reasons. A successful career is rarely a straight line. In fact, most hiring managers look for candidates who strike a balance between external and internal moves, with enough stability to demonstrate commitment and ability to deliver results. Akhtaboot highlights the questions you need to ask yourself before you consider switching jobs.

Are you moving to a good job or are you running away from your current situation?

Being stuck in a bad job is one of the main reasons that push employees to explore their options. But accepting any new job offer without much reflection is definitely a bad move. In order to make a smart career move, you need to consider what you really like about the new opportunity, not just what you hate about your current job. Think about what you're good at and how you can add value. This will give you a clearer idea about what you might be naturally good at, which will eventually lead you to the career path that leverages your strengths. In brief, don't settle. Your goal should be to find a role you're truly excited about.

Will you fit in within the company culture?

There are many companies that have a great reputation in the job market, but the hardest decision of all is to choose one that fits your personality and values. Since the company culture isn't usually part of the job description, when it comes down to finding the right job, the deciding factor may actually be 'cultural fit'. Of course, digging up facts about company culture doesn't have to be your job entirely. You can simply ask questions about organisational culture. Questions can include: Does the company have a code of ethics? Please describe the leadership style at your company. What qualities do the most successful employees in your company possess?

Is it all about the money?

Receiving a financially attractive offer is flattering but it can come at a cost. Of course a well-structured package is an important factor to consider when it comes to switching jobs, but it shouldn't be your only motivator. Be realistic about why the new position is attractive and don't hope that the money will make up for greater pressures or vague career prospects.

Does the new job offer growth opportunities?

Before switching jobs, you need to know where they belong in the big picture and what difference you'll be making in your new role. Great companies understand that in order to attract the best employees, they have to take the time to discuss their personal goals and career aspirations. Evaluate the growth opportunities that the new role has to offer and assess if changing jobs will open new doors for you. Choose a company that is invested in helping its employees with their own career goals and not only theirs.

The KING'S city

Whenever we hear France, our first thought is of Paris. But, about 10 miles away from Paris is the beautiful Versailles. If you're in Paris, you can take the train going to the city. As for me, I took the train from Gare Saint Lazare and it takes about 40 minutes to arrive at Versailles-Rive Droite.

Whenver we hear France, our first thought is of Paris. But, about 10 miles away from Paris is the beautiful Versailles. If you're in Paris, you can take the train going to the city. As for me, I took the train from Gare Saint Lazare and it takes about 40 minutes to arrive at Versailles-Rive Droite. It was a one day trip for me at Versailles but it was also one of the most beautiful experiences I've had. After I got down the train station, our tour guide for the day brought us to Notre Dame Market and left us to roam around and check out the place for about an hour. After looking around, the tour guide gathered us and we started on our way to the Palace of Versailles. On our way there, we passed by the church of Notre Dame. It was gorgeous. The little streets we took going to the palace was vintage looking. My surroundings made me feel nostalgic as if taking me back to a black and white silent motion picture. It was the perfect place to just stroll and feel relaxed. The streets of Versailles were quiet but not silent. It was peaceful. Finally, about 20-25 minutes of walking we arrived at the château. A vast wide of land with a fountain in the middle greeted us as we entered. Our tour guide led us through King Louis XVI's gardens first. King Louis was also known as the Sun King. So when you roam around his gardens, you'll see a lot of monuments of Apollo. He also had his own orange garden where during his reign he would trick the people by letting hundreds and thousands of oranges roll out of his palace doors during the winter making the people believe that he was indeed the Sun King. When in fact, it was only his greenhouse. I was very fortunate to have seen his orange garden from the top of the palace and I was in disbelief with its beauty! If you were there to see it with your own eyes, I'm sure you'd want to just stay there and watch the sunset with your loved one. After the breathtaking view, we entered the King's gardens where there were more than twelve of them. Fun fact, would you believe that the gardens of Versailles took 40 years to finish? It took that long to finish more than 12 gardens. But, I'd say 40 years was worth the wait because King Louis XVI's architect sure made my trip worthwhile, and I'm sure yours too once you see this place. After the first half of my day was over and done from walking around the gardens, it was time to get into the palace. The good thing about touring inside the palace was we didn't need to follow our tour guide which means we can take our time inside. We were provided with little radios as we walked in the palace. There are numbers for each room and hall we enter so if we want to know information about that particular area, we just press the number into the little radio and voila, instant information. The only two places inside the palace that I was very excited and curious to see and know more about was Marie Antoinette's room and the Hall of Mirrors. Marie Antoinette's room was coloured in gold. Everything was in gold and in floral prints. It was indeed a room of a Queen. The Hall of Mirrors also known as Galerie des Glaces, used over 350 mirrors to decorate this hall. It was beautiful inside the hall, and another fun fact, mirrors during the 17th century, were considered to be one of the most expensive items to possess. Walking along the hall of mirrors made me feel like royalty for a couple of minutes. The place was so extravagant and the design was so intricate and taken care of. After that long walk all day, we finally headed to the train station back to Paris. If there's one place I'd go back to again and again, it would be Versailles. The little city will fill your heart with peace.

CHATEAU DE VERSAILLES

Road to WEMBLEY

Chelsea have managed to fight their way into the Capital One Cup after defeating Liverpool with a 2-1 aggregate. The Blues will meet with Tottenham, who survived a strong fightback from League One side

Sheffield United with a score of 3-2 on aggregate. The Spurs beat Chelsea in the Capital One Cup final back in 2008 to obtain their last piece of silverware, however the two London sides will cross paths again at Wembley on Sunday March 1. Tottenham can be unpredictable – as they proved when they defeated Chelsea 5-3 at White Hart Lane on New Year's Day. A meeting between the two sides will certainly be a clash of interest.

Nick Easter feels thrilled after he was recalled by England ahead of the Six Nations campaign. The 34-year-old hasn't played with his national team since the 2011 World Cup, but after managing to shine at his club, he has finally been called up from Stuart Lancaster. "It's like the first day of boarding school again. I'm buzzing to be back when it was suggested I might be involved," said Easter. On the other hand, Owen Farrell has been ruled out of the Six Nations after suffering from a knee ligament injury. England's campaign has kicked off on February 6 when they faced Wales.

The time HAS COME

Ready to RUMBLE

Australia's Daniel Ricciardo is confidently hoping to close the gap between Red Bull and Mercedes in the upcoming Formula 1 season which kicks off in his home country on March 15. Ricciardo is looking forward to challenge for the world title in his new role as unofficial team leader as he feels doubtless that the Silver Arrows can be beaten. The 25-year-old was the only driver who was able to defeat the dynamic Mercedes duo of Lewis Hamilton and Nico Rosberg last season. "I believe I can do it. With my prediction that we are going to close the gap, we should definitely be in the hunt and I'm confident I can pull it off if I get the chance," said Ricciardo.

The right STUFF

Those renowned remote control drones are quite amusing, but let's not forget how big and expensive they are. Luckily, you won't have to suffer from paying that much if you opt for the Cheerson CX-10 Nano Drone, a drone that fits in the palm of your hand. We often heard of stories about full-size drones causing security alerts by crashing into places. However if you crash the Nano Drone, it really isn't the end of the world. The Cheerson CX-10 is only 4cm across and offers three control sensitivity modes designed for everyone from those who've never piloted a drone to those looking to pull off tricks with the thing. Just like the full-size drone, it also packs in a six-axis control system, making it capable performing sweet moves.

The best of ANDROID wear

Asus has finally crafted one of the best looking Android Wear smartwatches to date with its ZenWatch, the first smartwatch from the Taiwanese tech maker to run Android Wear. The smartwatch comes with a touch of luxury thanks to its curved display and leather strap, making it possibly one of the best looking smartwatches out there. It is made from a stainless-steel body with a curved Gorilla Glass 3-covered touchscreen on top. The ZenWatch is not just all looks, but it's also dust and water resistant. The watch boasts a 1.2GHz Qualcomm Snapdragon 400 processor, 512 MB of RAM and 4GB of storage, which is quite impressive for an Android Wear watch. On top of that there's also a heart rate monitor packed in.

More than just

PERFORMANCE

For hatchback enthusiasts who are often intrigued by performance and looks, the Volkswagen Golf GTI will not disappoint you whatsoever. This car is a long time favourite with almost no haters. It's the perfect balance between performance and practicality – all at an affordable price. The GTI boasts a 2.0-litre turbocharged direct injection engine, delivering 217 horsepower and 350Nm of torque. The vehicle is capable of sprinting from 0-100km/h in 6.5 seconds. This model is the seventh generation GTI, improving year after year and always managing to find the perfect balance between ride and handling. The way this car drives and handles keeps bringing buyers back for more. The interior continues the red theme, creating a sporty atmosphere. The flat-bottomed GTI steering wheel, aluminum pedals and of course, DAB radio, Bluetooth connectivity and adaptive cruise control. The car has gotten quite bigger than its previous models, and even though it's a hatchback, it still looks very sporty from the outside. Let's not forget the very detailed headlamps, which also have adaptive beams that turn when you turn the wheel to illuminate corners better.

NEWS ON WHEELS

An all new Mitsubishi showroom complex in Al Ain

To meet the growing demand of Mitsubishi customers in Al Ain, Al Habtoor Motors has launched its latest state-of-the-art Mitsubishi showroom and After-sales complex. The launch of the new facility coincides with Al Habtoor Motors' vision to expand its presence in the United Arab Emirates, especially in the Emirate of Abu Dhabi. With addition of the new 121,169-square-foot facility in the industrial hub of Al Ain, Al Habtoor Motors plans to cover all bases in the Abu Dhabi market. The new multi-storied showroom complex features a basement, ground floor and mezzanine. While the basement features covered parking area for hundred cars, the ground floor features Mitsubishi passenger vehicles showroom, an After-sales area featuring spare parts center and separate service facilities for passenger and commercial vehicles.

Following a global trend: DUBAI'S very own food truck convoy

Hailing from the US, food trucks are large vehicles equipped to cook and sell food. It has been around as early as 1866 and has been enhanced and developed since then. These food trucks have been roaming the streets of the US, UK and even Australia these past years and now the global trend has hit the streets of Dubai.

By Mae Cabigas

This February welcomes another year of the much awaited Dubai Food Festival. It's basically 23 days of food-inspired events and this year will showcase the city's standing as a global culinary destination as it welcomes internationally-renowned chefs and global food trends, whilst celebrating home-grown concepts and Emirati cuisine. "With a theme of 'Find your Flavour', Dubai Food Festival 2015 promises entertainment for the entire family as it challenges festival goers to truly discover Dubai's unique and growing culinary offer. Along with expanding 2014 event favourites, such as the highly popular Beach Canteen, Dubai Food Festival 2015 will see the addition of some truly memorable events and activities that, while inspired by global foodie trends, will have a distinctly Dubai flavour", says

Dubai Food Festival 2015 Director, Debra Greenwood. In line with the Multicultural Dining & Street Food theme and global trend of food trucks that is taking countries such as the UK, USA and Australia by storm, the 2015 Dubai Food Festival is excited to be welcoming a convoy of food trucks to this year's proceedings. Read got in touch with Debra Greenwood to talk about it, "Food Trucks are already operating in Dubai, with this we want to highlight the international trend to showcase that Dubai is emerging as part of that trend." When asked if this is a move in seeing a lot more of these portable food venues in Dubai she positively responded that, "Yes, everyone will definitely be seeing more food trucks in Dubai," but keeping in mind that they are of course only allowed in the zones that are allocated for them. The Director of the 2015 Dubai Food Festival also shared that "a lot of the food trucks are home-grown and we seek for the residences to support them." It truly is an exciting event that everyone can look forward to as these food trucks would be hitting the streets of Dubai starting on the 8th of February. The Food Truck Convoy is set to visit various locations around Dubai, and will move throughout the city during lunchtimes. Cuisines from across the world will be on offer, and will provide a unique dining experience to highly populated business areas such as, Sheikh Mohammed Bin Rashid Boulevard, Academic City, JLT Park, Knowledge Village and Studio City (Consumer Event). With all the excitement abuzz we're sure that the food truck owners are also brimming with anticipation for their voyage through the streets, so Read decided

Food truck convoy:

When:

February: 8 – 12, 15 – 19, 22 – 26

food trucks include:

- Melt Frozen
- Desert Chill
- Panifico
- Burger Fuel
- Jake's
- Home Bakery
- Park House
- Brooklyn Bros
- The Inventing Room (NB: Participating in first week of convoy only)

Where:

Every Sunday: Sheikh Mohammed Bin Rashid Boulevard

Every Monday: Academic City (Zayed University and KHDA building)

Every Tuesday: JLT Park

Every Wednesday: Knowledge Village, beside the Gloria Hotel and beside the Cisco building

Every Thursday: Studio City

Time: 11.30am – 4pm

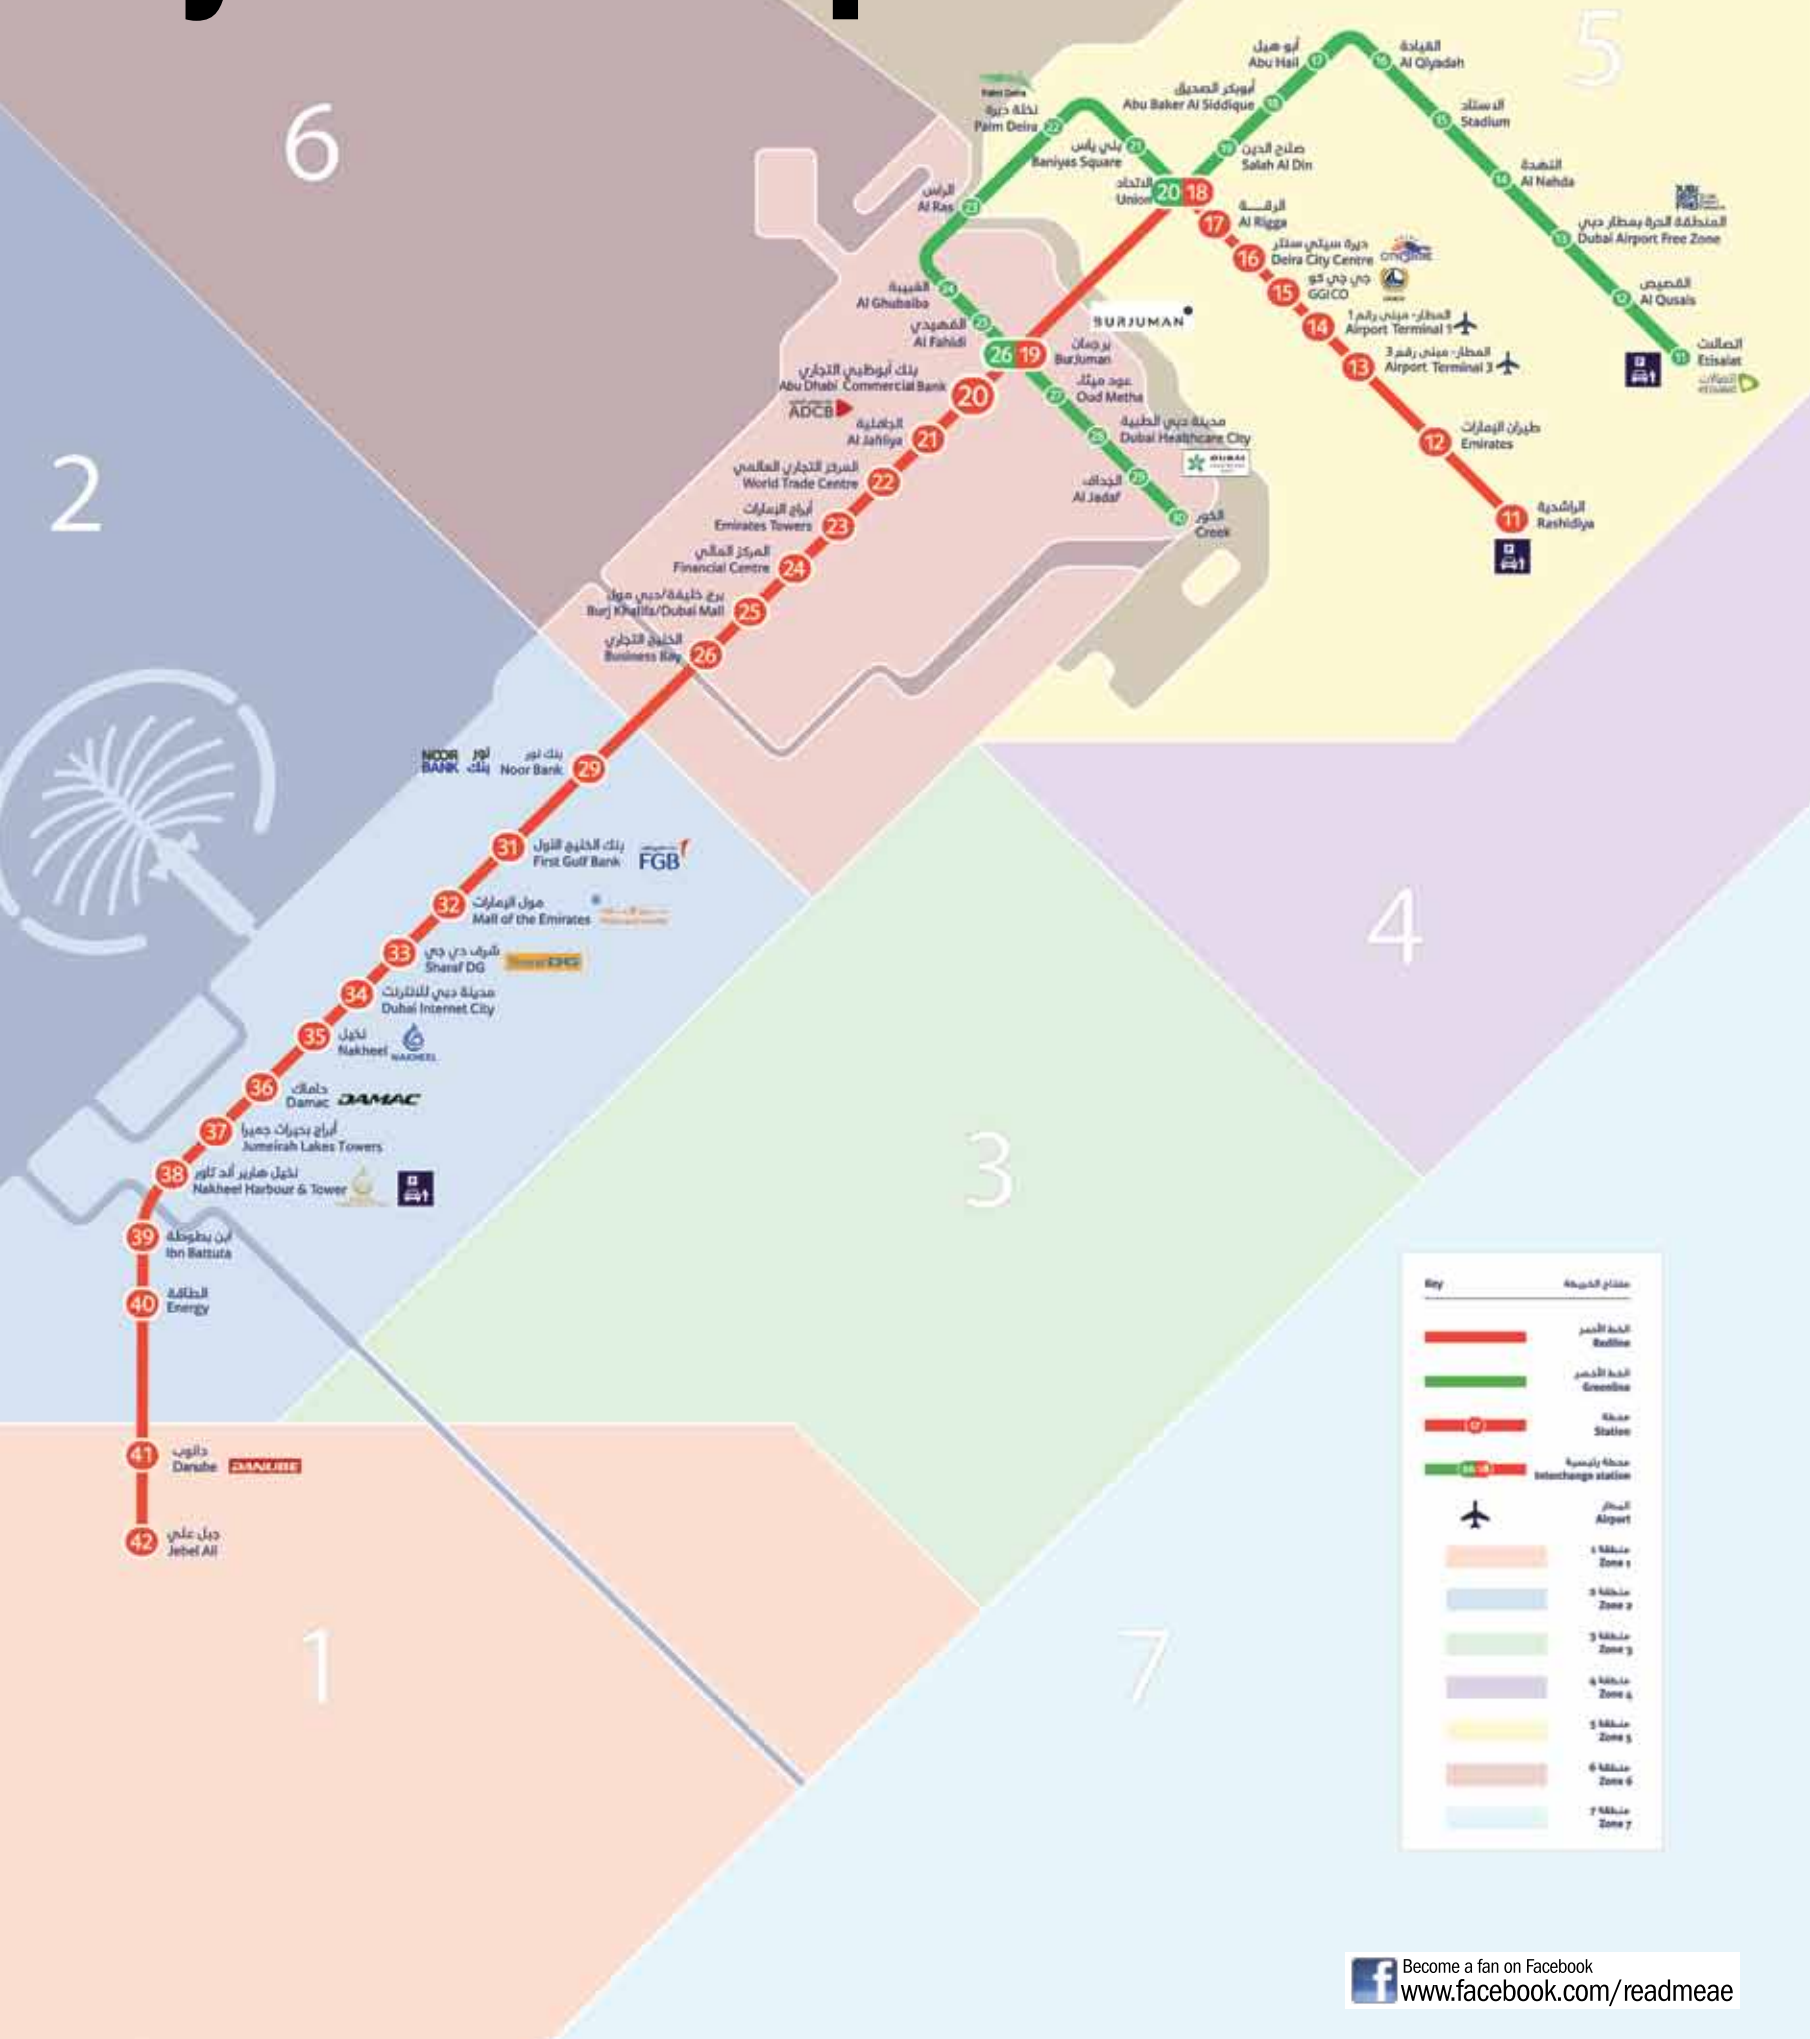

to ask a few on how they feel. We have everything down from Panifico's Gourmet Sandwiches where Yosser Ben Mena the General Manager, shared that they are truly excited and that "It is a unique opportunity to raise awareness about the food truck trend in Dubai and to showcase that there is real demand for it. The business started in late 2013 and was amongst one of the first food trucks in the city. Dubai now has a wonderful food truck community. Our ambition is to make food trucks an integral part of the food scene in Dubai and a platform for innovation." He also added that they "will be launching a new menu of gourmet hot dogs including the 'Bavarian Country Cheese-Dog' and the 'Mexican Chipotle Chilli-Dog'. If you're up for something more heavy, have no fear as BurgerFuel is on their way here! Operations Manager Colin De Bruin told Read that "Since this is the first time we're going on the road, and the events are held during the day, we will be offering our smaller burger options. All our beef is 100% New Zealand grass fed beef, and is cooked made to order. There will be chicken and vegetarians option too." Got a sweet tooth? No worries as Nathen Furlong owner of Desert Chill will definitely be "bringing the same vibrant, music jingling trucks that serve happiness all over the UAE, except we have developed a couple of locally inspired flavours especially for the Dubai Food Festival. 'Arabic Dates' and 'Saffron Vanilla' will make a debut appearance on the menu in line with the spirit of the event. I think they may become a permanent fixture!" Craving for coffee? Owner of Raw Coffee, Kim Thimpson is "really excited to finally have its coffee truck and is excited to get out on the road to bring caffeine to the people," and not only that but they will be "bringing its freshly roasted coffee, made exceptionally well by the onboard team. All coffee is organic certified and ethically traded. The coffee truck will be offering a full espresso menu, along with freshly brewed single origins, as well as a full cold menu." I guess we're all set for lunch, dessert, coffee and snacks! A perfect way to have a unique lunch and at the same time participate in this years' Dubai Food Festival all the while supporting our home-grown brands. So make sure you have their schedule jotted down to make sure you don't miss them.

'Here to Help' a huge success

The RTA initiative currently covers 511 service centres for renewal of driving licences and vehicle ownership.

SERVICE DELIVERY CHANNELS ARE CONSTANTLY BEING EXPANDED

INITIATIVES

Since its launch by the Roads and Transport Authority (RTA) in Dubai, the 'Here to Help' initiative has achieved remarkable results in terms of simplifying the renewal of driving licences and vehicle ownership, by improving service delivery channels and service booths through insurance companies and eye testing centres (trusted agents), where the number of entities coordinating with the RTA has grown from only 17 centres in Dubai to as many as 511 centres throughout the UAE.

Sultan Al Marzouqi, Director of Drivers Licensing, RTA Licensing Agency, said: "The 'Here to Help' initiative is a pioneering initiative in providing world-class public licensing services through our trusted agents. Through this initiative, we are keen on increasing the number of service delivery channels from a single source (RTA head office) to a variety of channels, including the RTA website, call centre, smart apps, smart kiosks and traffic departments all over the UAE. "We have also increased the number of insurance companies and eyesight testing centres to 511 centres in order to save time and effort of our customers interested in renewing their driving licences and vehicle ownerships by streamlining and processing transactions and procedures in simple steps and in less time. This has resulted in reducing traffic congestion and exhaust pipe emissions which would have otherwise been associated with customers' movement to complete such transactions, besides cutting the service delivery time from 10 minutes to about three minutes and reducing customers' waiting time from 20 minutes to about seven minutes," he added.

"The UAE is the first country worldwide in renewing vehicle ownerships and driving licences through smart-phones as certified by the International Commission for Driver Testing (CIECA); an entity concerned with the affairs of motorists and which has 35 member countries, and the International Motor Vehicle Inspection (CITA); an entity concerned with vehicle affairs, with has 53 member countries. This means that our efforts in this regard have received international acclaim and created a pioneer standing thanks to the paramount attention accorded to all aspects of customers service.

"Customer satisfaction represents the third RTA goal of 'bringing happiness to people.' The RTA's efforts in this regard have yielded fruitful results and placed the UAE alongside Korea and Sweden in the online uploading of eyesight testing results, and among the world's top five countries in the online renewal of driving licences. Moreover, the UAE has carved out a niche for itself in adopting the best practices in the renewal of vehicle ownership, alongside Ireland and Korea," added Al Marzouqi.

Fifty Shades of Grey

When Anastasia Steele, a literature student, goes to interview the wealthy Christian Grey, as a favour to her roommate Kate Kavanagh, she encounters a beautiful, brilliant and intimidating man. The innocent and naive Ana started to realize she wants him, despite his enigmatic reserve and advice, she finds herself desperate to get close to him. Not able to resist Ana's beauty and independent spirit, Christian Grey admits he wants her too, but in his own terms. Ana hesitates as she discovers the singular tastes of Christian Grey - despite of the embellishments of success, his multinational businesses, his vast wealth, his loving family - Grey is consumed by the need to control everything.

WATCH

Wolf Winter by Cecilia Ekbäck

A chilling reminder that winter is probably not as cruel as it could be. Ekbäck's novel is set in Swedish Lapland in the early 18th century, during the 'wolf winter'—the harshest one in the region's memory. A young family relocates to a village below a mysterious mountain, and the dark days and nights of Scandinavian winter reveal the community's secret history of violence and possibly magic. Is it wolves killing the neighbours, or something else?

READ

Non-Fiction by Ne-Yo

Debuting with a series of slick throwback tracks that were steeped in the smooth sound of '80s funk and soul, R&B singer/songwriter Ne-Yo has more recently reinvented himself as a dance-pop star. Coproduced by pop masterminds like Dr. Luke and club kings like David Guetta, Non-Fiction is Ne-Yo's sixth studio album in nine years. He remains one of the few artists to convincingly combine EDM with R&B, effortlessly draping his honeyed voice over high-energy house beats—but it turns out that Non-Fiction's best moments are its many swooning slow jams. And woozily futuristic cuts like Run and Good Morning even find the mainstream-friendly artist engaging with the more adventurous and alternative side of modern R&B.

Evolve

From Turtle Rock Studios, creators of Left 4 Dead, comes Evolve, the next generation of multiplayer shooters where four Hunters face off against a single, player-controlled Monster in adrenaline-pumping 4v1 matches. Play as the Monster to use savage abilities and an animalistic sense to kill your human enemies, or choose one of four Hunter classes (Assault, Trapper, Medic and Support) and team up to take down the beast on the planet Shear, where flora and fauna act as an adversary to man and monster alike. Level up to unlock new Hunter or Monster characters as well as upgrades, skins, and perks. Earn your infamy on the leader boards and become the apex predator.

Kanye West, Rihanna to tour together?

Could it be? After a close source revealed an image of a piece of paper with "Rihanna/Kanye Tour 2015" written on it and several other documents, appearing to be plans and schedules, scattered around, sparked rumours that something may be in the works on the musical front from the duo, who has worked together numerous times, in the past. West and Rihanna last collaborated on the single FourFiveSeconds, which also features Paul McCartney. Over the weekend, the duo reunited as they headlined DirectTV's pre-Super Bowl concert. No confirmation from both parties but we can all agree that this sounds all too exciting.

Hollywood news

Bradley Cooper and Suki Waterhouse to move in together?

Cooper, 40, and Waterhouse have been dating since meeting at the ELLE Style Awards in London in 2013. Now rumours are that they're reportedly moving in together when he relocates to London for a stint on the West End stage. The Hangover actor is set to take his Broadway show The Elephant Man to the British capital in May, and he plans to set up home with the British beauty during his time in the UK, reported Hollywood online. A close source also revealed that, "It has always been Bradley's dream to perform in the West End but it means he also gets to live with Suki too. He is currently looking at rental apartments and looping her into all his suggestions. Bradley is totally smitten."

Milla Jovovich in final talks for In the Lost Lands

Myriad Pictures is in final negotiations with Milla Jovovich who is set to star in In the Lost Lands, a fantasy-adventure project based on short stories by Game of Thrones author George R.R. Martin. The project marks the first time that a film based on Martin's writing is being produced for the big screen. Martin's A Song of Fire and Ice novels were adapted into the hit HBO series Game of Thrones.

Shahid and Kangna bag best actor awards

All is well during the 60th Britannia Filmfare Awards ceremony last Saturday, where Shahid Kapoor won the award for Best Actor (Male) for his performance in the film Haider, while Kangna Ranaut received the Best Actor (Female) award for Queen. The actress shares that, "It feels great. I think that event I'm here for also talks about making your mark and last night (at the Filmfare Awards), I think in a way the kind of respect and acknowledgment that my film got, also literally meant making your mark."

'I couldn't move for seven hours'

Nagesh Kukunoor's upcoming film, Dhanak (Rainbow), will have its world premiere at the Berlin Film Festival which opens on February 5. It is the only Indian feature selected for the festival and will compete in the Generation Kplus category. Starring the young artists Hetal Gada and Krish Chhabria. Hetal shares her biggest ordeal while shooting for the film, where she had to aly down on the sand, "Since sand patterns shift with even the slightest movement, I couldn't move even an inch through those seven long hours. When it was time for lunch, Nagesh sir fed me himself, apologising profusely. He is a wonderful man and a fine director."

Akshara Haasan's parents' split made her strong

Akshara Haasan was very young when her parents, actors Kamal Haasan and Sarika, separated but the actress says rather than breaking her down, their split made her stronger. The 24-year-old actress is the younger daughter of the couple, who separated in 2002 and divorced two years later. "When my parents separated, it made me stronger. I realised after a point of time that I can't do anything [about it] because it was their life. I had to let them do what they wanted to do. Their happiness was more important," Haasan said. The actress is following her parents and elder sister Shruti into cinema, making her big screen debut with R Balki's Shamitabh opposite Amitabh Bachchan and Dhanush.

RECRUITMENT OPEN DAY FOR ROLES IN AL AIN

When: 17th February 2015 - apply online to receive your invitation to this event

We are recruiting for the NEW P.F. Chang's in Al Ain. Opportunities exist for:

• Chefs • Hostesses • Waiters • Dishwashers • Bussers

P.F. Chang's, an American restaurant chain serving American-Chinese cuisine, is committed to providing you with an exceptional dining experience every time you walk through our doors. Each dish on the menu is prepared using the freshest and highest quality ingredients and the dining experience is stylish, upbeat and comfortable. Joining P.F. Chang's means becoming part of, and adding value to, a team that is committed to doing everything possible to providing an optimal dining experience for our guests.

If you have excellent customer service skills and would like to work for an internationally recognised food brand, please apply online today at careers.alshaya.com to register your interest in attending one of our UAE recruitment events.

P.F. CHANG'S

What's in your stars?

The Read. astrologer tells you what you can expect over the next seven days.

ARIES

(MAR 21 - APR 20)

Look at the long view, and look at your experiences in the larger context of the world around you. Everything's interconnected, after all. Some time alone is time well spent; you need to think now. There's something going on beneath the surface, so uncover it.

TAURUS

(APR 21 - MAY 21)

Keep an eye out for anything and anyone a bit different at the beginning of the week. A fire drill, a chance encounter with a stranger, a chance to try something you've never done — they're all windows of potential transformation. Jump through!

GEMINI

(MAY 22 - JUN 21)

Romance is on tap, so don't save those big dates, big questions or big proclamations for later. Fun and flirtation follow you now. Slow down for your mental and physical health's sake. Attend to your emotional state and also be sure to take care of yourself.

CANCER

(JUN 22 - JUL 23)

Your nice little home environment is subject to disruptions. For you, this can be very unsettling, so plan soothing activities out in the world. Hesitation isn't wimpy, it's smart. Get a consultation from a coworker or a friend. When in doubt, just say no.

LEO

(JUL 24 - AUG 23)

It may seem like a funny time for romance, but love works in mysterious ways. Be ready to rearrange your schedule accordingly! Others may be satisfying on the surface, but you want to know more. Delve deeper and increase your understanding exponentially.

VIRGO

(AUG 24 - SEP 23)

If indecision strikes at the beginning of the week, look to those you admire and respect. They'll be happy to help, and you'll be glad you asked. They'll be happy to help, and you'll be glad you asked. Meeting new people is extra fun now, too.

LIBRA

(SEP 24 - OCT 23)

It looks to be terrific days for you across the board. You've got plenty of energy for accomplishing tons at work — and after hours, you're hot! However, work issues may occupy a lot of your attention. Keep your priorities in the front of your mind.

SCORPIO

(OCT 24 - NOV 22)

You're close, but you're just not quite getting it. Whether it's a work issue or an interpersonal matter, you need to keep looking to find the right solution. Your personal power is peaking, and all sorts of opportunities are knocking, even romantic ones.

SAGITTARIUS

(NOV 23 - DEC 21)

Make your own fun, and you'll make the world much brighter for those around you, too — not to mention that they'll love you. Just be sure you're taking time with decisions now. Also, you've got something to sort out, and the sooner the better.

CAPRICORN

(DEC 22 - JAN 20)

Dive in and keep busy. Getting something going, whether at work or elsewhere, is easy now — just be subtle about it. There will be plenty of time for horn-tooting later! Get organized, both in terms of your physical surroundings and your headspace.

AQUARIUS

(JAN 21 - FEB 19)

Your nemesis could become your best friend or you might find that you like something you've always hated. Give it a whirl and change your world. Deeper perspective may be at odds with that of those around you. Will you tell them about it or keep it to yourself?

PISCES

(FEB 20 - MAR 20)

To heck with the status quo — you've got a bigger, better idea, and it's time to enact it. If money's involved, make sure you're not taking too big of a risk. Dig around a little, you'll find out something now that'll really come in handy, whether it's work-related or interpersonal.

Fancy is not a place, it's a taste

Oh the extravagance of flavor, the assortment of ingredients and the tongue-tingling notes of spiciness. These are but a few words that describe the latest addition to our house of Grand.

Come feast your appetite on this gastronomic work of art.
