Poem of the week

Let Me

By Anca Mihaela Bruma

Let me
stir clouds into your eardrums...

Let me
breathe life into your caverns...

Let me
sing an impromptu elegy for the forgotten worlds...

and then,
the angels,
will paint rainbows
with their psychedelic raindrops!...

Red Line Green Line

When new leaders FAIL

Leadership isn't about having a senior job title, a big office or the power to make important company decisions. The best leaders know that their ability to motivate and guide their teams mirrors their own success. While corporate culture and values often highlight desired traits like 'honesty' and 'team work' as core principles from the top to bottom, but do today's managers practice what they preach? Researches state that most senior officials fail at their jobs within their first 18 months of being hired. This is not to say that the leader should only be blamed; in most cases, organisations are not set up to support their leaders well. They fail to provide clear expectations of the new leadership role. Akhtaboot is here to highlight to the top reasons why new leaders fail.

Over or Under Confidence

Most employees have an idea on the behaviours they want to see in a leader. Some of them often feel confident that they are up to the challenge and that they can be a manager if they had to. When it comes to reality, though, this role can be more difficult than expected. While confidence is a good personal trait, some leaders can get blinded by their ego in a way that doesn't allow them to see any problems with their leadership style. Leaders should always be on the look for ways to solve problems and make improvements. The ability to admit mistakes is a sign of successful leadership.

Lack of Training

Leadership requires more than a certain number of experience years. You need to learn how to lead well, and the skills and motivations needed to lead are the opposite of those needed to be a normal employee. It's no longer about you: you only succeed when your people succeed, and many new leaders don't manage to make this shift gracefully. Instead of focusing on tasks, leaders need to support the people doing the tasks.

Hiding Information

The easiest way to lose your employees' trust is to hide information and act secretive at all times. Transparent leadership has become a popular workplace demand as employees need to know the purpose of their work. Transparent leadership is a way of thinking. Great leaders create an open environment that allows everyone to share their candid opinions freely. They show compassion and humility and make sure that everyone is heard. This doesn't mean that employees will like everything you have to say, but they will respect you and perform when you communicate early and often.

Intimidation as a Leadership Style

There is more than one leadership style that really works. However, one style never seems to work: intimidation. Successful leaders are able to rally support around major decisions and motivate their people without resorting to bullying and intimidation. Leaders that are able to influence their team positively are approachable and always have their door open. They take a sincere interest in their employees' lives and don't view questions and differences as inconvenient interruptions but rather as opportunities to support their employees.

Pretending to Know it All

Leaders tend to think they need to act as if they have all the answers. Those who think that they know it all tend to get stuck in micromanagement. Micromanagement is the paradigm of the old, obsolete leadership style. The new leadership paradigm frees people from boxes. It's all about helping people reach places they didn't know they could go. Great leaders understand that if they try to control everything, their employees will end up feeling patronised and will begin to resent their jobs. A smart leader knows how to balance the roles of a boss, a mediator and a mentor, allowing teams more autonomy while keeping them focused on objectives.

Bohol, jewel of the Philippines

VIRGIN ISLANDS, BOHOL

By Bianca Alcaide

Among the 7,100 islands in the Philippines, there lies in the Central Visayas region the 10th largest island, Bohol, the tropical paradise of the country. If you're an adventurer, a beach bum, a nature lover or even someone who wants to just relax, Bohol is the perfect place for you. Getting to Bohol from Manila is just an hour's trip by plane. You can also get there by ferry if you're coming from Cebu, another beautiful island in the Philippines.

During my first day in Bohol, my family and I decided to go around the little island and explore our surroundings. Our first stop was the famous Chocolate Hills. The Chocolate hills are considered to be one of the Philippines' natural wonders. They are hills made of limestone leftover from coral reefs during the Ice age when the island was submerged. They turn brown during the summer, hence their name. Not only that, they really do look like the Hershey's chocolate kisses when you look at them from the top. They have a viewing deck for you to see the nature's wonders before your very eyes.

Anyone who's travelled to Bohol knows that their tarsier is what they are famous for and that's where we headed to next. The Philippines tarsier is the second smallest primate in the world. The sanctuary is almost like a small hill that you'd have to walk in. The caretakers look very carefully after these little creatures by not taking them out of their habitat. We only saw a few of them as most of the time they're hidden behind tree branches. If you've seen a lot during your climb, then you're lucky. Long time back they used to allow tourists to touch tarsiers, but because of one incident that happened in the Philippines where one tourist smuggled one little creature back to Manila, they have been very strict about it. Now, you're only allowed to look at them from a distance. Just a little fun fact, tarsiers tend to commit suicide whenever they feel lonely.

We were all done for the day, and the adventurers in us were excited for the 2nd day of our tour. We were going to go island hopping!

We were early the next day making our way to Alona Kew, famous for its white sandy beaches! To go island hopping, you can actually rent a boat for 15-20 people for more or less 5000 pesos, that's around 500 dhs which is actually not bad at all. Your oarsman will first take you dolphin watching! I couldn't take much photos of them as they didn't appear as much. But just watching a few swimming and jumping in and out of the water as the sun was just rising was impeccably beautiful. After that wonderful experience, we headed on to Balicasag island where we went snorkelling. You'd have to change into smaller boats when you go to Balicasag because of the coral reefs. Seeing the natural wonders under the sea made me wonder for a moment that there are so many beautiful things that are just waiting for us to be discovered. The experience was just magnificent. After about 2 hours of snorkelling and trying to count how many kinds of fishes were there, our next hop was to the Virgin Islands.

The Virgin island only appears when it's low tide and disappears when it's high tide. We were lucky to have gotten there during the low tide. Walking in the long stretch of sand made me feel like I was walking on water and like I was in the lost city of Atlantis as well! Here, we were also able to get fresh water pearls at a cheap price, because the island was abundant with them. It was also the first time I've seen such wonderful sea shells!

From the Virgin Island, we headed on our way back to Alona Kew. We all thought it was time for some scrumptious food, rest and a relaxing time. At Alone Kew, there's a long stretch of restaurants and cafe's that tourists can dine in at a very reasonable price.

After a whole day of adventure, it was time to finally head back home. Bohol is a gem. It's an undiscovered majestic island that's waiting to be discovered. I suggest you pack your bags and head on to Bohol to see what surprise is in store for you.

TGI Friday's 30 new dishes

DOUBLE MUSHROOM RIB EYE

TGI Friday's has been around for a long time and now that they've introduced 30 new dishes on their menu, it just gives us more reason to keep going back. Their places are best known for their quirky interiors and atmosphere and the fact that it's the go-to place for celebratory dinners, who doesn't want a free molten chocolate cake for their birthday? We made sure to try out something from each section, meaning a few dishes from the appetizers, main sections like their steaks and tex mex, and of course the best part of every meal, desserts! So here are our top picks.

Appetizers:

1. Beef Bacon Mac & Cheese – A soft and cheesy surprise, these Mac & Cheese balls are our top pick from the appetizers, with the perfect sprinkle of creamy cheese sauce with tidbits of beef bacon.
2. Caribbean Wings – Skewered Fridays wings are our next choice as their original tropical spiced sauce is bursting with flavour, adding to that a nice sweet taste from the pineapples along with it.

3. Memphis BBQ Sliders – Sandwiched between two crispy waffle fries, the flavourful taste of their BBQ beef and cheese are a bit too strong for our taste, nonetheless still tops our list for appetizers.

Steaks:

1. Double Mushroom Rib Eye – Our ultimate favourite from the new steak options, a perfectly grilled rib eye steak with a savoury mushroom sauce with fried Portobello mushrooms on the side to contrast.
2. Coastal Surf & Turf – A simple yet delicious take on Surf & Turf, a classic Sirloin Steak with a creamy shrimp basil sauce to match. One that is a must to try.
3. Steak & Garlic Fries – Have a feel of that New York vibe with this option. Perfectly seasoned and grilled, the garlic fries on the side will not disappoint especially when dipped in horseradish cream.

Tex Mex

1. Sizzling Chicken Mexicali – A perfect choice if you can't decide between choosing something cheesy or spicy. This Spanish rice with marinated chicken breast is a perfect combination with the melted Colby and Jack cheese.

2. Tex Mex Mac & Cheese Pasta – Warning: This is a really spicy pasta plate. Don't let the Mac & Cheese fool you, these will give a bite back if you're not fond of spices.

Dessert:

1. Sizzling Toffee Cake – This was probably the best part of our meal and it did not disappoint. From the warm, soft and creamy cake, to the cold, sweet and smooth taste of the ice-cream, it is a perfect ending to any meal.
2. Salted Caramel Cake – This one was just oozing with sweetness that you can't quite put your finger on, but this will definitely solve your sweet tooth that's for sure.

Our verdict:

Slumber party essentials

Who says slumber parties are only for the kiddies? Even women should have a fun and relaxing time with their girlfriends, it's also a good excuse to go back and relive the younger days. So create an invitation, make a checklist and plan for the perfect night. READ is here to give you some essentials in making the night fun-fashionable!

1. Women's Secret Pyjamas, AED199 each

Bunnies, pink and comfort. Three words to describe this all too adorable pyjama piece, you can even mix and match these to your favourite pair of t-shirt or shorts, be creative! After all you would want to make sure that you're all up and ready for jumping up and down when the music starts (yes, we know you would do that with your friends), or when you're going to lounge around the sofa or carpet while watching your one of many chick flicks for the night, just don't forget the popcorn and candies.

2. Essie Gel Extension Polish, AED45 each

Young or old, girls just want to have fun and what better way than to put polish on each other's nails. This new colourful edition from Essie is ideal for your 'gossip' moment, they have over 24 shades that everyone can choose from and what more is that this collection comes with a new matte top coat in gel. If you can't choose just one shade then why not be creative and try them all out. It's long lasting and will not wear away easily after the night is over. So even your nails get a bit of pampering and fun for your fun filled women only sleepover.

3. Tati Pillows, AED25 each

You know what we're thinking. Pillow fight! With these stylish pillows, it won't be a crime to be childish and run around chasing each other. You can even designate a different pillow per person to make it more fun and colourful. Plus it helps when you're all ready to calm down and take a rest, now you won't have to worry if your girls would be comfortable all throughout the night. You can also pick pillows for your girls according to their style and personal taste, also it can serve as a nice souvenir and a reminder that it won't be the last sleepover you gals will be having.

4. Lenny & Eva Bracelets, Virgin Megastore

Inviting friends over for a sleepover doesn't mean you're just plain old friends, but because you all share that same bond and sister-like treatment to each other. So why not give your close gals something to say 'thank you for being there for me'? These stylish and chic bracelets from Lenny & Eva are the perfect thing, also you can choose a quote or word that you think best describes them. That way they'll know you appreciate their friendship, after all even if you're all very close it's not every day that you're able to get together and give appreciation.

With all the fashion week craziness happening right now, I could write a hundred pages about the latest trends and what the celebrities are wearing. But why do we need to know what's hot and what's not? Trends don't work on everyone's body type and are not always everyone's favourite. So why do we strive to follow the latest trends set by other people when we can make our own?

Your style doesn't need to be decided by fashion magazines, catwalks or your favourite celebrities. There is a trendsetter in every single one of us. We all have different personalities and we all love different things. Trends are truly what we make them.

As a designer, I love adding hardware and crazy prints to my designs. It might be a little outrageous, but it makes me happy.

So how do you become your own trendsetter?

Understand and appreciate your body.

Try out different styles, cuts and colours to know exactly what makes you feel the most confident. Because the best thing a girl can wear is confidence.

Find what you love and go for it.

Don't hold yourself back from wearing bright colours if they make you happy. Don't be embarrassed to wear a unicorn T-shirt that might represent your personality like nothing else. If

Hind Adib
Fashion Designer and Blogger
www.hindsworld.com

you find tutus fun, wear them!

Get inspired by the fashion world, but don't imitate it.

Looking at magazines, fashion websites and people's styles can help inspire you with the possibilities of styles and colours. Take the inspiration and make it your own.

Don't worry about what other people think.

It's important to dress for certain occasions and places, but don't think too much about what people will think or say about your style. You might take them by surprise at first, but they will appreciate it later.

I used to get the weirdest looks on the streets when I first started dying my hair two years ago. But when it became an actual trend in the fashion world, people stopped looking at me like I've lost my mind!

So go out there, wear what makes you happy and always remember this quote "You are a work of art, not everyone will understand you, but the ones who do, will never forget about you!"

Clean that button

Did you know that your belly button can also be infected? Your belly button should be cleaned just like all the other parts of the body; otherwise, the area can develop gnarly smells and infections, often paired with red, itchy, and scabby skin—especially if you have a navel piercing. The average navel is swarming with 67 different species of bacteria, according to research from North Carolina State University and according to Alexandria V. Booth, M.D., says that simply showering will remove some germs, lint, and whatnot, but if you have an 'innie', you should also dig in once a week with a cotton swab that has soap and water or rubbing alcohol on it. If you're regularly cleaning it and you notice that there is still a smell or some kind of infection in it then it's time to visit the doctor's office to finally get rid of it once and for all and to make sure you have a squeaky clean belly button.

Stye Away

If you've noticed a pink dot or a seemingly pimple-like bump on your eye, don't pop it! It's no pimple, it's a stye. What is a stye you ask? It involves infection of an eyelash follicle or oil gland of the eyelid. This usually happens when you touch something dusty or dirty and then continue on to rub your eyes with those same hands. Don't fret, there's a way to get rid of those pesky styes and have your eyes looking beautiful again. Since the cause is a bacterial infection, you would want to clean it first to remove any type of dirt lingering around the area. Wash your hands thoroughly and then use a cotton ball or clean hands to gently cleanse the stye with warm water. Some styes can cause a painful swelling and one way to treat these types is using a warm compress. Leave the compress on for about 5 to 10 minutes, after that re-soak it and repeat, you can do this three or four times a day. If it does not go away after a week visit your doctor for further medication, this should also be done if you regularly have styes. Since styes are most often a product of unhygienic behaviour, the best way to prevent them is by never touching your eyes with dirty hands and making sure to keep your eyelids clean.

Al Zahra Medical Centre launches One Stop Breast Clinic

Al Zahra medical Centre is pleased to launch the first One Stop Breast Clinic in Dubai.

Discovering a lump in your breast, nipple discharge or breast pain can be very distressing and any time spent waiting for a diagnosis and treatment can seem like an eternity. Our patients receive a diagnosis and management plan in one convenient visit to Al Zahra Medical Centre's One Stop Breast Clinic. Our philosophy is to create a comfortable environment where women with any breast health questions may come to find the answers.

The visit starts with a consultation with our expert breast surgeon followed by the appropriate diagnostic tool based on your individual needs. The goal will be for you to walk out with confidence in the results you receive, a clear diagnosis and a treatment plan, all in one single visit. Our doctors will be with you through every step of the visit. They will spend time with you, taking you through all findings, answering any questions, discussing any concerns you may have, so you will leave with a complete understanding of your comprehensive treatment plan.

Thinking about getting braces?

It's never too late. These days, adults make up nearly half of orthodontic patients hoping to finally get the perfect smile they've always dreamed about. Orthodontic treatment can benefit social and career success, as well as improve a person's general attitude toward life.

In order to align your teeth and correct your bite, dental braces must be used to help move your teeth to the correct position. Braces, along with other orthodontic devices, are used often to correct various types of malocclusions, such as crooked teeth, overbites, under bites, cross bites and other problems with your teeth or jaw.

When your teeth are properly aligned and your bite is correct, it will be easier to floss, brush and avoid future problems with your temporomandibular joint or TMJ.

Dr. Bachir Kalaji
Orthodontist qualified from Paris VI University

Straight teeth can:

- Help to effectively bite, chew and speak.
- Collect less plaque, a colorless, sticky film composed of bacteria, food and saliva.
- Be less prone to decay, gum disease and injury.

SUB-ZERO

circuit classes

A new and exciting way to exercise

By Mae Cabigas

Working out in the mornings give us that added energy we need to get through the day, the feeling of the blood pumping through your veins and the sweat and heat on your back. After all the tremendous workout, you get thirsty and gulp down that water that your body needs; but did you know that drinking water after burning all the fat will replace what you lose? So what can you do instead? We'll help you out with a new morning timetable.

6:00AM
Wake up and have breakfast
6:30AM
Go to Ski Dubai
7:00AM
Start warm-up

If you're wondering how going to Ski Dubai will help, trust us it will. You see burning fat in a sub-zero temperature is easier, according to MMA Fitness Trainer Eugene Sobers, because of the freezing temperature "you don't really sweat a lot, so as soon as you start to burn, you're stripping the fat straight away." We're not telling you to break in Ski Dubai in order to do just that because you can actually do it in Ski Dubai!

This February marks the return of 'Snowrobics—Sub-zero Circuits' training classes, bringing back the fun in fitness as it creates an environment where each session leaves you feeling challenged and ready to conquer the day ahead. According to Omar El Banna, Marketing & Sales Director at Majid Al Futtaim Leisure & Entertainment, "We are very excited to welcome Sub-zero Circuits to Ski Dubai and hope we can lend a helping hand to those looking to get fit in a fun and unique environment. Where else but Ski Dubai can you work out in sub-zero temperatures in an indoor winter wonderland?" Held only every Sunday, Tuesday and Thursday at 7 A.M, the circuit is run in partnership with MMA Fitness Center and their professional certified trainers, the Dubai-based fitness company respected for its expertise in mixed martial arts.

As it happens only three times a week, you don't need to worry about facing the freezing temperature every morning; this gives you a chance to mix up the environment where you exercise. Imagine working out in the nice desert sun and the next day you're working out in a beautiful and snowy setting and the next day you're running through the city landscapes. Every day is an adventure and what more; this gives you an opportunity to love your daily routine. An exciting thing to look forward to is enough fuel to get us through the day.

This is also an opportunity to be trained by some of the best fitness trainers of all time, an opportunity we did not want to miss. We tried out Snowrobics ourselves to give you an inside scoop of what happens inside Dubai's snow globe. Our trainer for the day was Eugene Sobers himself, his background knowledge in Combat Sports and many others including Tabata Training has helped him in acquiring the trainer position for Snowrobics. The session starts with a 5 minute warm-up along with 3 minutes of stretching. The key in every session is to keep moving to warm up the body due to the -4 temperature. The main circuit has two parts, the first part includes a 7 minute body-weight exercises and matt work with 6 minutes kettlebell exercises. The second part was the 8 minute sandbag circuit, which included a 70 meter jog to a small steep slope, all the while carrying either a 5kg or 10kg sandbag, an uphill run was also included in the circuit with the sandbags and a jog back to the 'base camp'. Before you know it, it's over and the remaining 7 minutes is for cooling down, stretching and a little motivational speech from the trainers.

The experience is truly one of a kind, and although our hands and faces were numb by the end of the session, it was something we admit we would like to do again. The feeling of having achieved something before the day starts for others is very satisfying. The encouragement of the other trainers and Eugene himself was uplifting and in Eugene's words "find your inner strength", we were quite sure we found a strength we never expected we had. When asked if he had any message for those contemplating on trying it out, Eugene says, "I would like to encourage anyone to come at least once in your lifetime." He also ensures that, "with me and my colleague Luis, we'll make sure that it would be an enjoyable session."

It may seem like it's a bit early especially for those who still has work after, but there's no need to worry about that, as Ski Dubai has complimentary on-site shower and changing facilities so attendees can freshen up before the working day begins. All the equipments needed for the sessions are provided, and you only need to come in your standard gym wear. So do something new before the end of February and you might just be surprised that working out in a -4 temperature is much more fun than working out in any other place.

Dedicated to IMPROVE

It is believed that Andy Murray will do a much better job in Dubai, Indian Wells and Miami despite his disappointing quarter-final exit to Gilles Simon. Rotterdam was the first ATP Tour the Scot has played in since his Australia Open final defeat to world No 1 Novak Djokovic. Dubai is really something to look forward to for Murray as the former Wimbledon champion will be refreshed and mentally ready for the challenge.

After kicking off with a perfect defensive start by defeating fierce rivals Pakistan in Adelaide, India prepares to face one of the favourites for the title, South Africa, at the famed Melbourne Cricket Ground on Sunday. India managed to beat their neighbors by 76 runs to make it six wins out of six against Pakistan in World Cups. On the other hand, the South Africans arrived at the World Cup highly fancied, with a batting lineup led by De Villiers and Hashim Amla and a bowling attack spearheaded Dale Steyn. The former India coach Gary Kirsten exuded confidence in the defending champions, asserting that they have what it takes to retain the cricket World Cup crown.

Mourinho: Chelsea not favourites

Chelsea manager Jose Mourinho has praised his 'phenomenal goalkeepers' after Thibaut Courtois managed to secure a 1-1 draw with Paris Saint-Germain during their last clash in the round of 16 of the Champions League. The Portuguese coach claimed that it was a positive result for the Blues however admits that Chelsea are not really favourites. "It is a two-leg match but now it is a one-leg match.

We have just a slight advantage, maybe a mental advantage that we play at home and we don't have to play again in Paris," he said. On Tuesday Manchester City will host Barcelona meanwhile Juventus faces Dortmund at home. Whereas on Wednesday Arsenal will meet with Monaco at the Emirates Stadium, and Bayer Leverkusen will host last year's Champions League finalists Atletico Madrid.

LOUDER than before

If you're a music enthusiast and looking for loud, awesome sounding Bluetooth speaker that's also IPX7 waterproof and packs NFC for easy pairing, then you should most definitely opt for the UE Megaboom. UE's followup to the Boom, pumps the volume louder and has sharper sound with a great hit of bass. And don't worry about battery life, because that lasts for up to 20 hours. Now, this speaker is waterproof instead of water-resistant and can be fully submersed in water for several minutes without getting damaged. Let's not forget about other technical upgrades, like it being equipped with longer-range Bluetooth, and depending on the device you pair with it, you can stray up to 100 feet away from the speaker and still stream audio to it.

outstanding steering wheel, which is frankly one of the most comfortable ones out there. The vehicle is powered by a 230Nm turbocharged 1.2 litre petrol three-cylinder engine that can deliver 202 horsepower, and it's one of the best three-cylinder engines we've sampled to date. Peugeot 308 GT 2015 is equipped with some features on the exterior part, like the modern headlights that contain up to 62 LED, 18-inches diamond wheels new grille with three horizontal blades boxes in Jaguar's lion badge, and a black diffuser. This car drives beautifully, looks fantastic, and has no small amount of French flair to make it stand out in traffic.

Peugeot 308: comfort and quality

If you're on the search for a hatchback that was crowned as last year's European Car of the Year, then you should keep your eyes on the Peugeot 308. The new second-generation Peugeot 308 has been seven years in the making and the French car maker has big plans for the revamped small car. With improved looks and a more expensive-feeling interior, the Peugeot 308 now offers a more attractive ownership package with excellent economy and fast-improving dealer service. In this car, there's much to like, and little to dislike. The quality from the inside is clean and the high-mounted instrument cluster not only helps keep your eyes up, it looks great too. The new 7-inch colour touchscreen is lovely too, surrounded by capacitive shortcut keys for accessing audio, climate, navigation and setup functions. Let's not forget about that

Vanilla Ice released from custody

The Ice Ice Baby rapper was arrested and charged with burglary and grand theft in Lantana, Florida on February 18 but was also released from custody the next day. According to the Police in Lantana, the charges are tied to an abandoned house Vanilla Ice was renovating for his The Vanilla Ice Project television show, which he has hosted since 2010. The owner of the house did not approve of the removal of the items, leading to the arrest of the rapper, whose given name is Robert Van Winkle. After police obtained a search warrant, they searched Vanilla Ice's Palm Beach County residence and found several of the items in question, Variety says. The items have been returned to the owner and Vanilla Ice has reportedly been cooperative during the investigation. He was released from the Palm Beach County jail last Wednesday night on a $6,000 (Dhs22,000) bond.

Hollywood news

John Travolta for I am Wrath

John Travolta has just signed for a film called I Am Wrath, which was originally supposed to be a Nicolas Cage movie. Now it belongs to Travolta who will be playing a guy who is out for justice when cops fail to corral his wife's killer. I am Wrath is an independent movie directed by Chuck Russel, with the script written by Paul Sloan and based on a story by Yvan Gauthier. The film is set to be shot in central Ohio and John Daugherty of the Greater Columbus Film Commission tells The Columbus Dispatch that the movie will have about a $10 million budget (Dh36.7 million), making it one of the bigger projects to come to the city in recent years. The shooting is set to start around March and will last for several weeks.

Snooki on The Real Housewives rumours

Nicole "Snooki" Polizzi quickly shot down the claims that she's changing channels; this is after an unidentified 'insider' told Life & Style that the married mother of two is "trying to get on the show," and believes it's a "perfect fit" for her. "She's gearing up for a change in her career, and being on Housewives makes sense for her," the tabloid's outsider said. Snooki on the other hand took to Twitter to deny the claim tweeting that, "I'm NOT trying to get on nj housewives like magazines are stating," a confirmation also came from the executive producer of the Housewives franchise Andy Cohen who simply tweeted, "she ain't joining." With that all confirmed we'll just have to wait and see who gets the vacant spot which Teresa Giudice left, who is currently serving a 15-month prison sentence for fraud.

Bollywood news

The return of Nana Patekar in Ab Tak Chappan 2

Veteran actor Nana Patekar is all set for the release of his blockbuster movie's sequel. Set to star again for the second part of the movie alongside Gul Panag, Ashutosh Rana, Vikram Gokhale, Mohan Agashe, Govind Namdev and Raj Zutshi, the film progresses from where the first installment ended 11 years ago. The film is directed by Aejez Gulab, who has tried to keep the interpersonal equations of the characters intact in the film, saying that, "Many times, filmmakers make sequels which have no connection with the previous film. While our script and treatment is different from its prequel, we've taken the story ahead from the premise of the original.

Superstars come together for Birju

Birju is a promotional song for Hey Bro, Ganesh Acharya's upcoming film and is inspired by the film Mother India's famous dialogue "Birju tu ayegva bitwa" and "Lala meri maa ke Kangan luata de." The song was written by Pranav Vatsa and choreographed by Rahul and Sanjeev, has got the viewers hooked as Ganesh is seen shaking a leg with Bachchan, Hrithik and Prabhudheva, while Ranveer displays his rapping skills and hip hop moves. Ajay, looking suave, adds his own charm and Akshay shows his wacky side. Hey Bro is an action-comedy starring Ganesh Acharya, Manindar, Nupur Sharma, Hanif Hilal and Prem Chopra and directed by Ajay Chandhok which will be released on February 27.

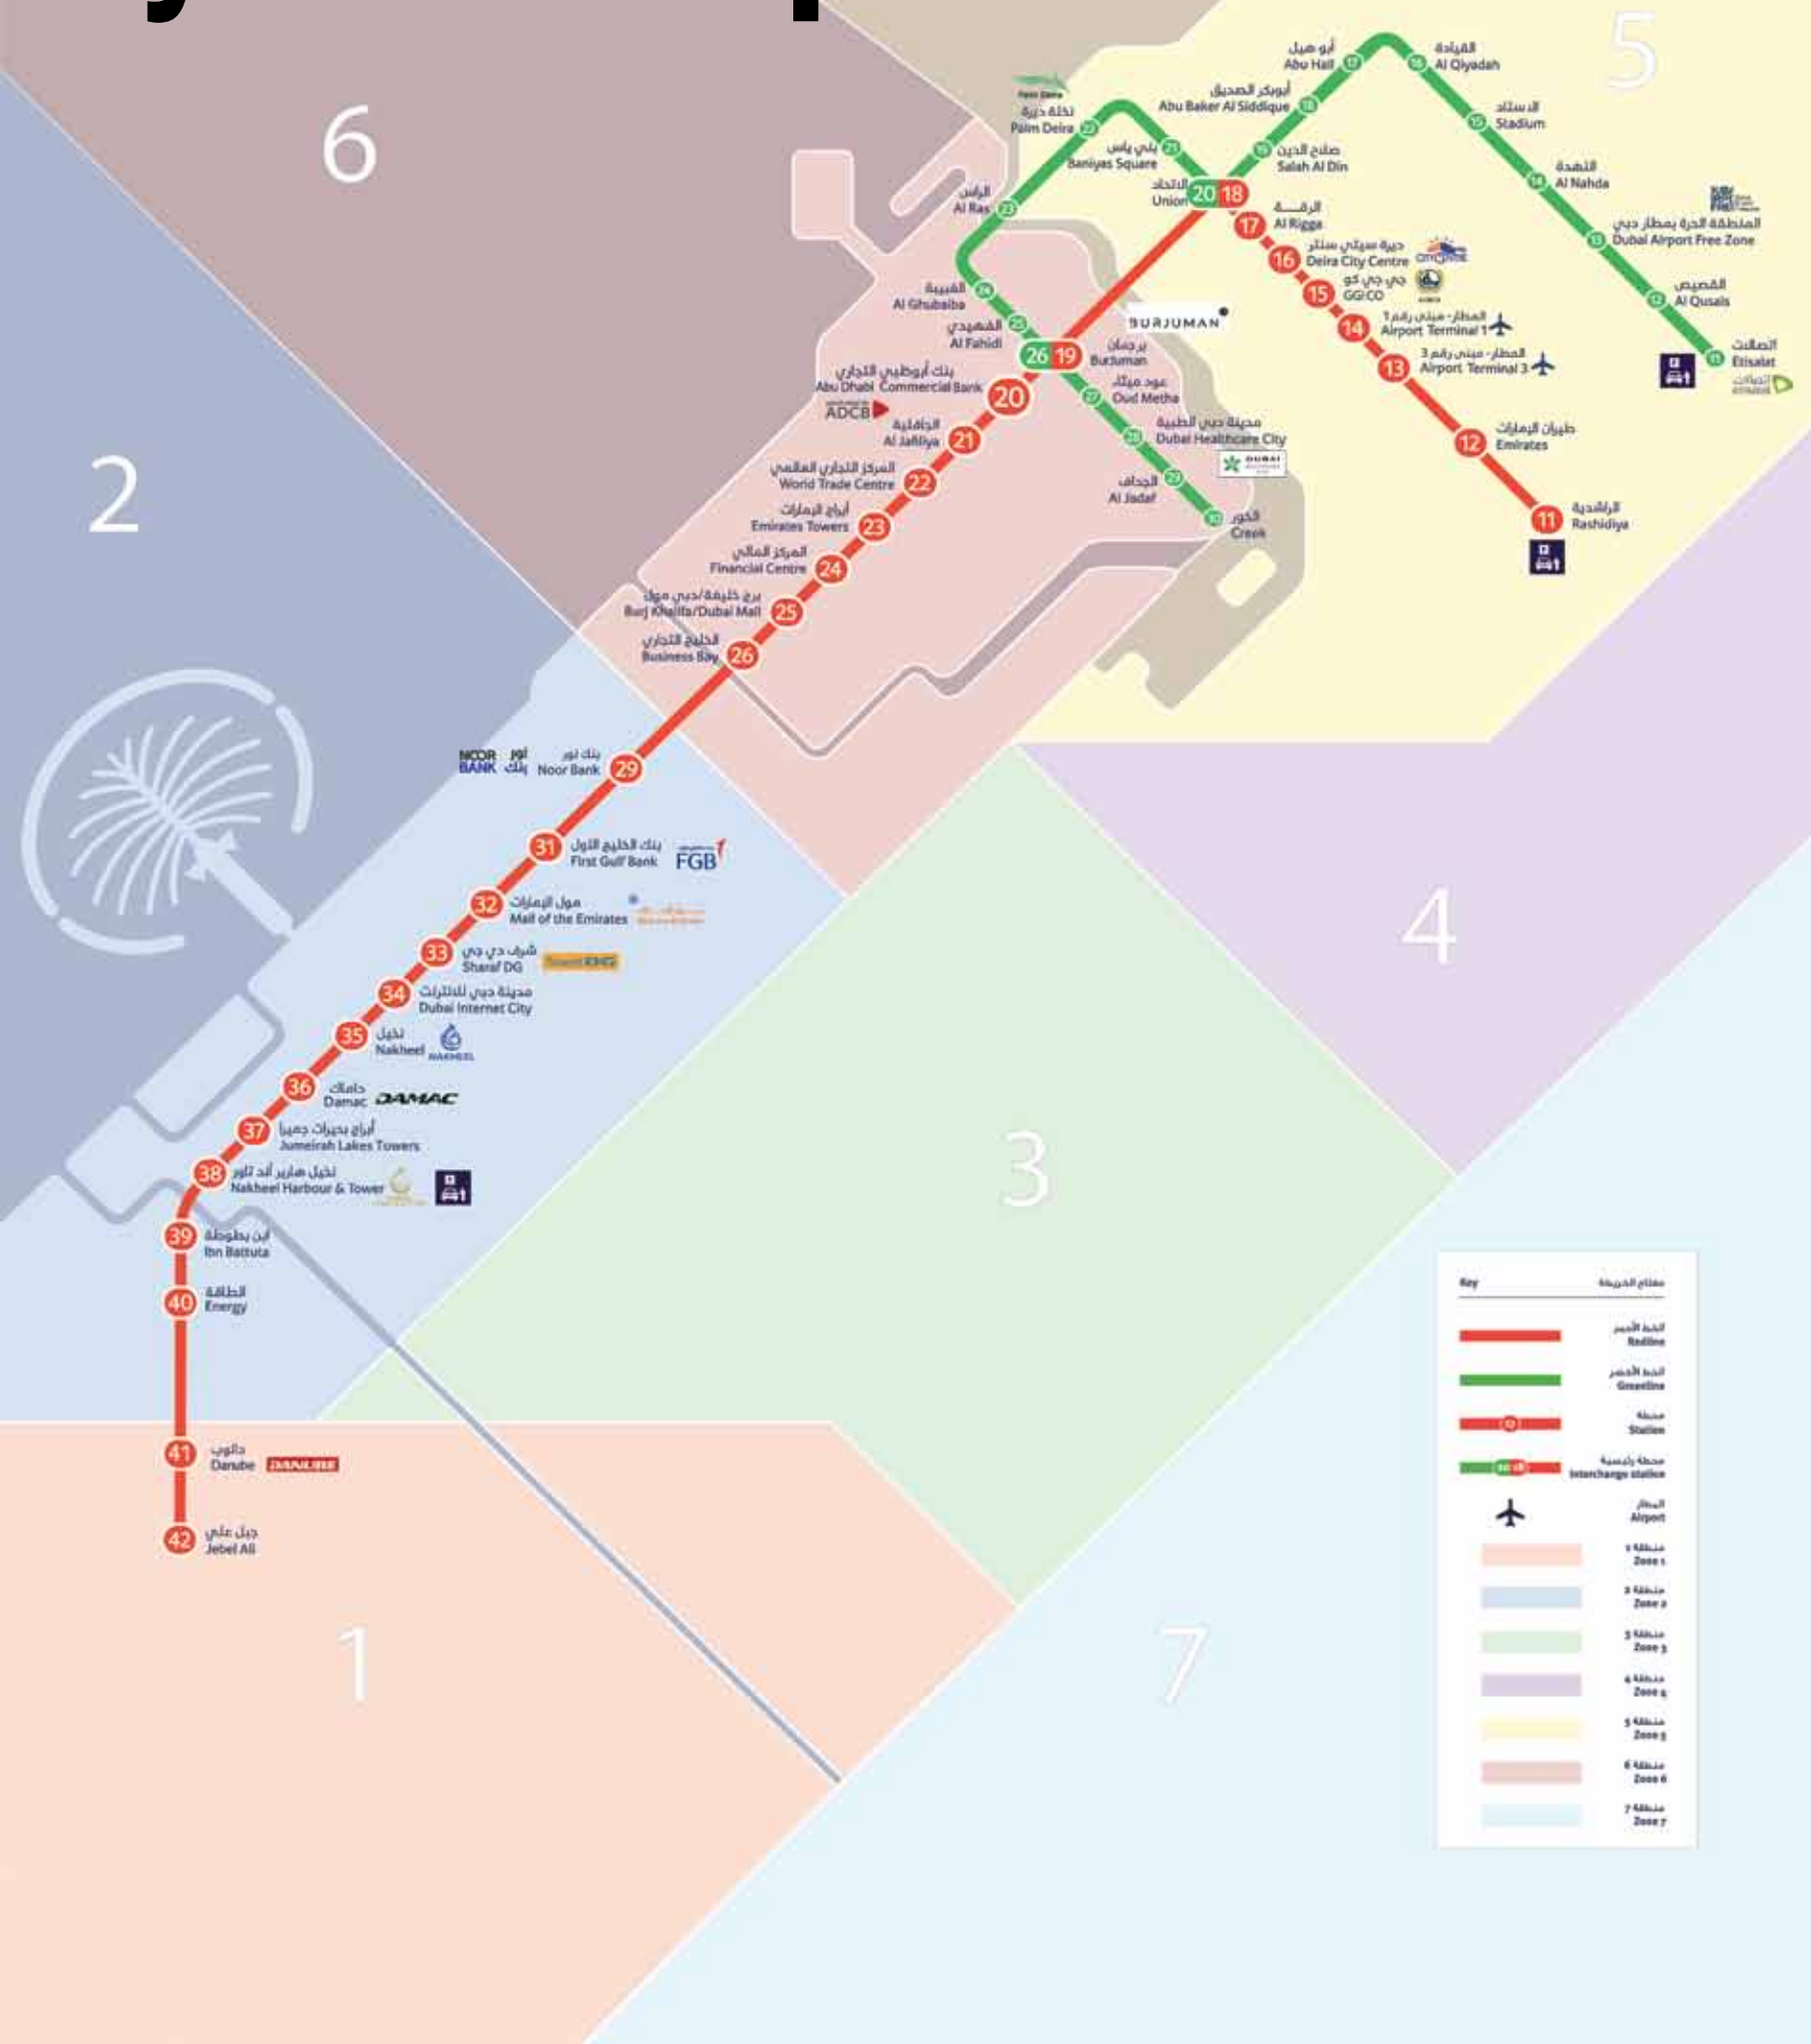

Amy Jackson to star opposite Akshay Kumar in Singh Is Bling

Amy Jackson is the 23-year old British model who made her Bollywood debut in 2012 film Ekk Deewana Tha. After three years she returns to the big screen alongside Akshay Kumar in Singh Is Bling. The film is Prabhudheva-directed and is co-produced by Akshay and Ashvini Yardi. The announcement of her participation in the film was announced by Ashvini Yardi on Twitter, "Welcome aboard @iamAmyJackson. Guys give a warm welcome to our lady Bling. #SinghIsBling." After Jackson made her debut in Bollywood, she shifted to the southern film industry and acted in Thaandavam and Yevadu before appearing in Shankar's Tamil romantic-thriller I.

RTA aims to boost happiness level of employees and clients

Newly launched initiatives target offering top class services as per the highest international standards.

INITIATIVES

The Roads and Transport Authority (RTA) has launched a number of initiatives aimed at boosting the happiness level of internal customers (employees of various affiliated sectors and agencies) and external customers (individuals and entities) with whom the RTA is engaged in, in several projects and initiatives.

“The main objective of this initiative is to bring more happiness to internal and external customers alike through offering them top class services to win their satisfaction. Our set target is to achieve a 90 per cent customers’ satisfaction rating as per the highest international standards in place.”

“The initiative of bringing happiness to employees covers all RTA’s employees comprising about 3,500 employees and 2,896 drivers of public transport means,” according to Mansour Rahma Al Falasi, Director of Administrative Services at RTA Corporate Administrative Support Services Sector.

“The main objective of this initiative is to bring more happiness to internal and external customers alike through offering them top class services to win their satisfaction. Our set target is to achieve a 90 per cent customers’ satisfaction rating as per the highest international standards in place.

MANSOUR RAHMA AL FALASI

“The initiative also includes maintaining continuous communication with various departments of the RTA through a host of specific and effective channels, such as measuring employees’ satisfaction rating, enabling employees to express their views and make suggestions, and carrying out improvement initiatives based on intensive field studies”

“To realise the objectives of these initiatives we are working towards automation of internal services at the services support centre, and the opening of new smart channels to receive service requests via smart apps for smart gadgets over and above the customary communication channels such as e-mail and call centre; which is working 24/7,” added Al Falasi.

“The RTA has developed a new innovative mechanism for receiving customers’ feedback named perception points under the innovation culture patronised by the RTA. It also seeks to diffuse the culture of excellence in service delivery; which involves the improvement of 163 key and subsidiary services.”

“This initiative is undertaken in the context of the Administrative Services Department’s keenness to uplift the calibre of services to rank it at par with the RTA’s strategy of bringing happiness to customers and fully migrating to smart services mode.

“The initiative also includes maintaining continuous communication with various departments of the RTA through a host of specific and effective channels, such as measuring employees’ satisfaction rating, enabling employees to express their views and make suggestions, and carrying out improvement initiatives based on intensive field studies,” he added.

“The RTA has developed a new innovative mechanism for receiving customers’ feedback named perception points under the innovation culture patronised by the RTA. It also seeks to diffuse the culture of excellence in service delivery; which involves the improvement of 163 key and subsidiary services,” said Al Falasi.

What's in your stars?

The Read. astrologer tells you what you can expect over the next seven days.

ARIES

(MAR 21 - APR 20)

Think about what you're going to say, then pick up the phone and place the call. Taking the first few days of the week step-by-step is the best way to survive the frantic — albeit fun — times. Tuesday and Wednesday, if you find yourself flirting with someone, make yourself clear.

TAURUS

(APR 21 - MAY 21)

Monday through Wednesday are not great days to make major decisions about the future of your cash. In the present tense, cash will be uncharacteristically flying out of your pockets. More than anything, you're spending money on entertaining ways to waste time.

GEMINI

(MAY 22 - JUN 21)

It's not raining, it's pouring the first half of the week — metaphorically, at least. You were in the mood to meet some new people, and a bus full of new people has just pulled up to your life. Chatting, handshaking and even flirting take up your week until Thursday.

CANCER

(JUN 22 - JUL 23)

Your wild side is coming through and people are responding well to it. You are the kind of person who makes an impact. Let your creative brilliance solve whatever conundrums are puzzling the people around you. Later, your mind fills with possibilities for the future.

LEO

(JUL 24 - AUG 23)

A party is a fine place to get some things figured out. You and your friends have a casual rapport that strikes fairly deeply, shorthand that lets you talk about weighty issues with lightness and humor. You are constantly impressed by these friends.

VIRGO

(AUG 24 - SEP 23)

What you need is the skills of a scientist. If you're not a scientist, just work extra hard to be logical and reasonable when dealing with whatever comes your way. Be as warm as possible when communicating with others.

LIBRA

(SEP 24 - OCT 23)

You're sick of what you already know. You'd rather wing it in a conversation over a subject you've hardly ever considered. This is related to a desire — that is strong Monday through Wednesday — to experience new things. To grow mentally. To expand.

SCORPIO

(OCT 24 - NOV 23)

As good as it can be to take risks in your life, risks aren't going to go your way. Tempted as you are, you're best off passing them up. Being careful is key. Don't let any minor details escape your attention. Later, the tension finally breaks and you can rely more on your wits.

SAGITTARIUS

(NOV 23 - DEC 21)

Some people like to sit on the porch and talk about their dreams. You'd rather march into the world and realize yours. But there are a lot of porch-sitters in your life, so for the first half of the week, keep your head down and ignore them.

CAPRICORN

(DEC 22 - JAN 20)

Your chatting time is crowded out by more pressing tasks. Be nice, of course, but don't let yourself get trapped in a conversation about, say, what was on TV last night. The best way to get through this week is to narrow your aim and strike quickly at everything.

AQUARIUS

(JAN 21 - FEB 19)

The fires of your romantic life are burning so brightly that you can't see anything else. The connection isn't just about physical attraction; it's deeper and more cerebral than that. If you could spend every hour of the week with this person, you would.

PISCES

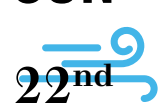

(FEB 20 - MAR 20)

You are not charging out of the gate. Matter of fact, you might not even leave the house. You are busy but not particularly ambitious socially. A sense of uncertainty weighs heavily on you, when an unexpected romantic development puts a smile on your face.
